

Vietnam Enters Humphrey Talks With Suharto Indonesian Head Offers to Help With Government of Hanoi

(AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed relations with Hanoi, Vietnam, during his talks with Indonesian President Suharto today. Humphrey said he did not ask him to request any assistance in Vietnam.

A spokesman for Suharto had said Sunday that Humphrey asked the Indonesian government to mediate. The sources in Humphrey's party said this was incorrect.

Leaves Bali

Humphrey left the island of Bali today. After a stop in Central Java to inspect an agriculture project sponsored by the American Food for Work Project, he was to be host tonight at a dinner for Suharto.

The vice president donned a sport shirt and relaxed on his overnight visit to Bali, an island of beautiful girls, colorful dances, smoking volcanoes, lush jungles and white sand beaches. He was greeted by scores of lovely girls sprinkling him with flowers, and girls in colorful sarongs lined his route to the airport today.

More talks with Suharto were expected at tonight's dinner, and it was assumed the war in Vietnam as well as Indonesia's economic plight would be high on the agenda.

Offers Help Indonesia earlier had offered to mediate but stressed that the conflict should be resolved by the Vietnamese people themselves and, if necessary, with the help of African and Asian countries. Foreign Minister Adam Malik, in Bonn for talks with West German officials, told newsmen Sunday that "we are ready to do our share for both sides if they wish it." "We have an ambassador in North Vietnam and we also have contact with the Viet Cong," he added.

Humphrey also told Suharto the U.S. government wants to help Indonesia overcome its economic difficulties and will join other creditor nations to help supply $325 million in foreign credits needed for economic development.

Indiana to Use National Guard Despite Order

Negro Candidate Files Suit to Halt Vote Denials

GARY, Ind. (AP) — National Guardsmen were moving into position today, 10 miles south of Gary, as a step toward preventing any possible violence during Tuesday's election, a National Guard source said.

The Democratic candidate for mayor, Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro, and the Justice Department have filed suits seeking injunctions to prevent denial of the vote to qualified Negroes. A three-judge federal panel convened today at nearby Hammond to hear the cases.

The Guard source said at least 500 Guardsmen from Central and Southern Indiana moved on armored personnel carriers into the Lake County fairgrounds at Crown Point.

Judge Noble K. Littell of Morgan Superior Court at Martinsville had issued a restraining order Saturday prohibiting Gov. Roger D. Branigin from sending Guard troops to the Gary area.

Defy Injunction The Chicago Tribune quoted Indiana Atty. Gen. John Dillon today as saying the order was "null and void."

Disasters Take 250 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disaster struck often and hard over the weekend and more than 250 persons were reported dead or missing in a typhoon, floods, a train wreck and three plane crashes from the Philippines to Britain.

In the Philippines: About 200 persons were believed dead or missing as casualty counts poured into Manila after Typhoon Emma rampaged across the island and sank an inter-island passenger ship.

In England: 53 were dead and 111 injured when an express train careened off the tracks coming into London Sunday night. Another 37 died in the crash on Saturday of a Spanish airliner arriving in London from Malaga, Spain.

In Hong Kong: Only one person died as a huge Cathay Pacific Airlines Convair 440 tilted on takeoff and slid into Hong Kong harbor. The other 126 persons aboard escaped unhurt from the floating fuselage.

In New Guinea: All seven persons aboard a light plane died today when it crashed while taking off from Goroka Airport in the New Guinea highlands.

In Italy: At least 11 persons died in highway crashes during hard rains that pushed rivers in Venice and the Po River Delta over their banks to flood roads and highways.

The owners of the Philippine ship reported 67 persons are missing and presumed drowned while 14 others are known dead after the sinking of the 300-ton Mindoro in rough central Philippine seas churned up by Typhoon Emma two days ago.

The vessel sank at the height of Emma's fury. Her howling winds, up to 125 miles an hour, cut a swath of destruction across the Philippines. The Philippine News Service reported 106 others dead or missing in five provinces, and the Red Cross listed 16 dead in two other areas.

The Red Cross said at least 26,000 families or close to 140,000 persons were left homeless by the typhoon in 21 central and northern provinces.

Damage estimates ran up to $5 million. In southeast London this morning, rain cut through a morning of bright sun.

Cranes mounted on railroad cars arrived to lift the overturned coaches while rescuers searched for survivors.

Controlled Flames Passers-by kept the flames under control until the arrival of the Hibernia Volunteer Fire Department, Vice said.

According to Vice, an auto driven by Leonard G. Smith, Appleton, was apparently traveling west on State 114 when it and the east-bound See auto collided.

The impact ripped off the bumper of the Smith auto, although neither he nor either of his two passengers was injured. The auto careened off the road.

Make a Model Boat Display Using a Cardboard Box

BY CAPPY DICK

If you own a model sailboat you may have wished you had a way to store it out of the water other than placing it on its side

Cardboard Box

Today's fun project paper provides a perfect answer. Construct a or deck out of a cardboard box. Figure 1 shows what it is like inside and Figure 2 shows it in use.

The box must be of a size suitable in length, width and depth for your boat. A size that might do it is 18" x 12" x 12". Cut a slot in the top of the box, large enough and wide enough to receive the keel of the boat. To keep the hull upright you may find it necessary to widen the slot at each end to allow part of the prow and stern to fit into it.

With poster paint, draw a series of colorful waves on the top of the box. Glue a piece of

Job's Daughters Spend an 'Evening in Paris'

Sidewalk cafes, flower carts, murals depicting Paris scenes and an Eiffel Tower provided a 'Gay Paree' atmosphere Friday evening at the Masonic Temple when Bethel 24 of the International Order of Job's Daughters held their annual formal ball. Decorations carried out the 'Evening in Paris' theme.

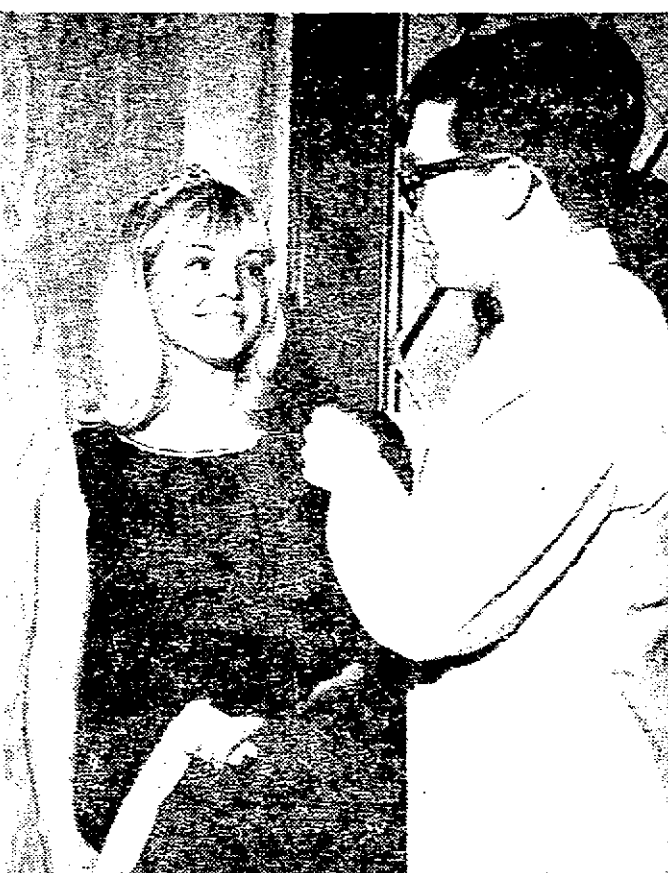

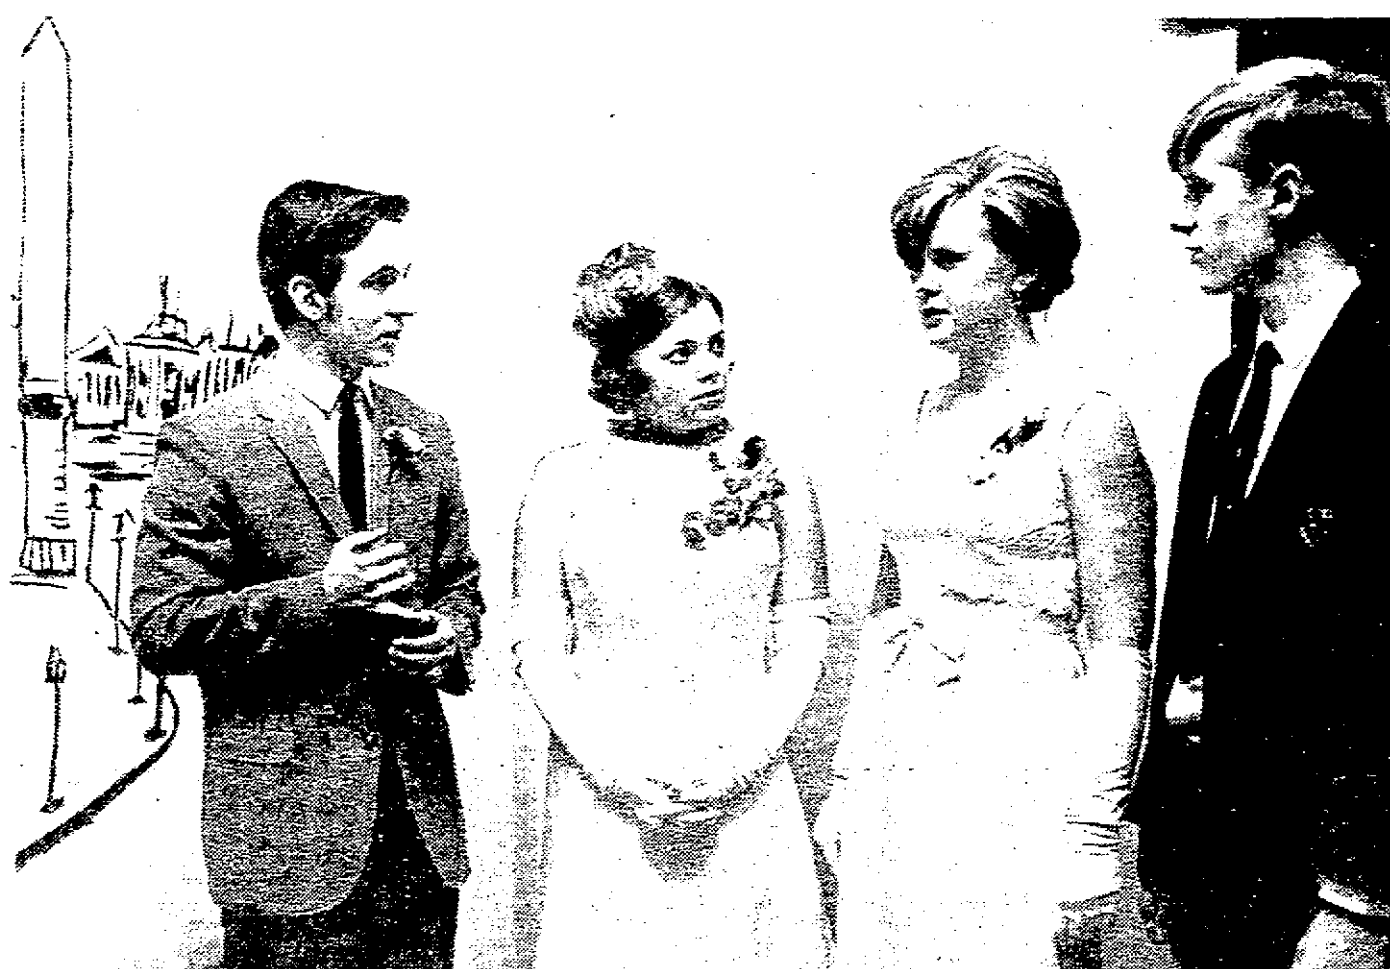

Couples danced from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Miss Carol Jepsen, the group's honored queen, was presented during the Grand March, along with senior princess, Miss Bonnie Squier, junior princess, Miss Eileen Knox, and chapter sweethearts and Demolay master counselors from the surrounding area.

Miss Diana Wallace, chairman of the event, was assisted by Miss Squier, Miss Patti Wallenfang and Miss Cherie Lindell.

Members of Job's Daughters and their dates take time out from dancing at their annual formal ball to be served refreshments. Above, Debbie Rahr serves punch to Miss Eileen Knox, Brent Feltheim, Roger Durke, Miss Sue Beck and Stewart Jacoby, all of Appleton, and Miss Carol Jepsen, Marshfield. At right, Richard Norby and Miss Sally Polzin, both of New London and Miss Cathy Hanson and Larry Ehrbar, Green Bay, visit between dances. Wall murals and flower carts helped create a Parisian theme at the Friday evening dance.

Some Find Security In Status Symbols

By LORNA CARROLL
ST. PETERSBURG, (AP) — Toby, age 7, is a teller of tall tales. "Boy, you should see the two bears I shot when I went camping with dad."

What Toby really is saying is, "I am a very insecure individual and my self-concept is quite low so I'm trying to make up for this by using fabrications."

These tall tales create a status symbol for Toby. They are the crutch on which his self-esteem leans.

Toby is not an individual case. The seeking of status lurks in the heart of everyone from toddler to octogenarian.

"Insecure youngsters," explains Wesley Jenkins, executive director of Family and Children's Service, "have an inordinate need for trying to impress people with their possessions, with their accomplishments and the things in which they excel."

Because he is a child, the adult listens with a half smile. But it is not funny. It is sad.

Faunting of Possessions
"These fabrications," this flaunting of possessions," says Jenkins, "start when a child is able to differentiate himself from other people. By the time a child gets into the first few elementary grades, the need for status becomes important."

"If we look at fads among young people, we find the struggle for status starts early, and, if we look into his future as an adult, we see him still struggling."

What is different between a 16-year-old boy's pride in the newest bike in the neighborhood and a 35-year-old man's pride in owning the handsomest automobile?

Status symbols vary according to age, sex and taste but they all indicate one common desire—to feel equal or superior by outward symbols.

Symbols are Vital
Jenkins claims that the child, the teen-ager or the adult to whom symbols are so vital is saying, "I am in emotional pain because I am not secure enough to let my accomplishments speak for themselves. I must demonstrate to the entire world that I'm a person of worth, that I'm a person who has status."

There is nothing bad about wanting success or status symbols if they lead to worthwhile goals—and are not damaging in the process. It is bad when symbols become so meaningful that they are going to buy. He carries his exciting information out to his friends, knowing his status will go up a notch.

Family relationships play a vital part in the child's regard for himself and status," Jenkins emphasizes. "In our culture at this stage I believe a child who is a product of a broken home loses a certain amount of status and the child feels it. It is painful to try to cover up. There still is status in having both mother and father so he may say, 'My daddy takes me to the ball game' or 'My mother takes me to the movies.'"

Attitude Rubs Off
Their attitude rubs off on Sally, their daughter, who wants to keep up with the Joneses' kids. "I do believe," comments Jenkins, "that youngsters pick up a good bit of their symbolization from parents and from the culture we live in."

Little Johnny hears his parents talk about their split-level home, the high-priced car in the garage and the color TV set.

Farmer's Show of Respect Simple, Heartwarming Gesture

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A tiny cemetery. On the way we passed a field where a farmer was planting grain. As we passed he stopped his tractor, climbed down, removed his old straw hat and stood with his head bowed until the procession had passed.

character clues

Writing Backhand

Writing that leans backward is a sign of withdrawal from contact with people and with the world, and indicates a person who is self-centered and self-satisfied.

This struck me as being one of the most heart-warming gestures I had seen in years. In the large city where I live, a funeral procession passes our office almost every day. I have seen small children make faces at the mourners in the cars. I have seen impatient motorists honk their horns and cut in front of a hearse. No respect. No consideration. No kindness. Are people changing or are city people different from small town people? — Just Inquiring

Dear Just: A little of each, my friend. A little of each.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are the judge and jury. The time: 3 p.m.

The place: Living room. The trial: Plaintiff (whole family) versus the defendant (Tabby The Housecat). Charge: Murder of Bella, a pet parakeet.

Defenders argue: It is instinctive for cats to kill birds. Tabby is therefore innocent.

Prosecutor argues: Tabby knew better. The trial raged for one minute and 23 seconds. The verdict: Tabby found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Sentence: Banishment. I am appealing the case to a higher court. You, Ann Landers, have the power to reverse the decision.

What is your verdict? — Defender of Tabby

Dear Defender: I refuse to pass judgment on the grounds of insufficient information. for example: Was Bella in her cage or was she out of her cage?

If Bella was out of her cage, Tabby is innocent. He did what came naturally. If someone let Bella loose, he, in my opinion is the guilty party.

Princess Sets Out to Prove Her Stability

ROME (AP) — A blue-eyed brunette princess has entered a clinic here to prove she is emotionally stable enough to choose a husband.

Maria Beatrice, 23, said her father, exiled ex-King Umberto, suggested she enter the clinic. Her mother, ex-Queen Maria Jose, has expressed the royal family's disapproval of Princess Maria's plans to marry actor Maurizio di Lorenzo.

The princess finished her fifth day Thursday at a clinic for nervous ailments and is undergoing examinations to show she is level headed enough to choose a proper mating partner.

I can't sleep nights worrying about this poor kid.

I'm making a carbon copy of this letter. Ann, and I would like to send it to her (anonymously, of course) with your reply. Yes or no? — Sorry Too Late

Dear Late: No. The girl probably knows about you and figures you tried unsuccessfully to trap the guy. Mind your own business and concentrate on making a life for yourself.

Julie Christie: Actress With Her Own Quiet Kind of Grace

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've been out of pocket and depressed, but never really desperate," said Julie Christie, "and that's how I've kept my schoolgirl complexion."

Then one of the entertainment world's most awesome properties studied her flawless features in a hand mirror as she applied makeup and said:

"I've come up with spots all over my face. I'm a mass of hot spots. It's the central heating."

The brilliant young British actress, most recently starred in "Far from the Madding Crowd," was having brunch in the West Side apartment of a friend here.

She was wearing a nondescript robe that didn't take attention away from the pendulous promise of a full lower lip and sea-deep eyes of fathomless gray.

As she answered questions, she ate some broiled sausages, picking them up with carefully fastidious fingers, then trifled with a cantaloupe whose orange cavity had been thrust full of large ripe strawberries.

"You realize that people, after all, aren't monsters and won't eat you up," she said, explaining that she felt less shy than on previous visits to America.

What is life to Julie?

"It is trees and water and buildings and people. It is nice things. It is something given world with such a unique docu-ment only once and therefore to be ment."

"made the very most of." Everybody has the blues now and then, Julie? How do you cure them?

"I'm so masochistic I give myself over to them completely. When I am bored with them and they with me, we part company. There are so many worthwhile things around."

How does a young girl, who used to carry an air mattress and camp in to the apartment of pals because she lacked rent, money, feel now that she is in the comfortable area of the great big dollar that confirms success?

"Well," she toyed with a lock of her hair like a brooding child—"It's not a le.hargic situation. It's stimulating. You're constantly having demands made upon you, which is nice."

What is your biggest virtue, Julie?

"Self-honesty. I don't lie to myself, whatever I may do to other people."

And your biggest fault, Julie?

"It may be self-interest, but that doesn't seem to narrow it down enough. Wait a moment, and I'll go ask."

She left the room to consult a friend, returned and said: "She said that if evasiveness wasn't my biggest vice, it was certainly vice-like. Also bossiness. Actually, however, I'm not really domineering. I just want everybody to feel and think the way I do."

"Everything about life is so rare and marvelous—even the awful."

What are the things you like, Julie?

"Oh, sunflowers—cats—great and wide and wild expanses of nature—the feeling of mole-skins—the nostalgic smell of li-lacs, which reminds me of my childhood—the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace—the walk of ducks and the way guinea pigs move—all kinds of food—and particular companions."

Young Know Better

And your dislikes?

"Oh, chickens—getting up in the morning and going to bed at night when I still want to stay up—giving up anything—herkiness, discountess, English sandwiches, and any sort of viciousness or vindictiveness, particularly in young people, because I feel they should know better."

And your goals now, Julie Christie?

"I'd like to have more control over my mind really, not to be such—not to be—Oh, I'll leave it at that really."

"Like a lot of people, the thing I am most afraid of is humiliation — violent humiliation."

She rose then with the unaware but ever-ready grace of a gazelle and said goodbye instantly prepared for the next step of her self-expression, her next portrayal.

Right Message, Wrong Form, Sent to Priest

LONDON (AP) — To say the least, Msgr. Canon Arthur T. Bird was surprised to receive a telegram that appeared to be congratulating him on his wedding as he marked his 50th year in the priesthood.

"Ad Multos Annes" — unto many years—read the Latin message on the form decorated with pictures of wedding bells and a bride and groom.

An embarrassed telegraph official later explained that the message had been typed on the wrong form and offered to swap it for one with a more appropriate design. But Canon Bird, in his seventies, demurred.

"After all," he said, "I must be the only monsignor in the things. It is something given world with such a unique docu-ment only once and therefore to be ment."

Fairer Sex Has More Foul Teeth

NEW YORK (AP) — The fairer sex? Of course. The weaker sex? Perhaps. The sex with the best teeth? Forget it!

It may come as a surprise to learn that women have more missing, filled or decayed teeth than men, according to a recent Public Health Service survey of American adults.

Moreover, women who have attended college have one-third more trouble with their teeth than females who quit grade school.

Putting one and one together, it may appear that men who dropped out of school early have less tooth trouble than all other adult Americans. But this is not necessarily so.

No Bragging

Nor do American males have that much to brag about when it comes to their teeth. Of the 700 million cavities in need of attention in the United States right now, many are the mouths of the stronger sex.

The dental survey also disclosed that:

Whites have 50 per cent more damaged teeth than Negroes.

American men earning more than $10,000 a year have much more trouble with their teeth than males making less than $2,000.

If your first inclination after reading these statistics is to forget them all over a nice juicy steak—beware.

Heat Decays

It just so happens, according to a British physician that dental decay and hot food may go together.

Dr. S. W. Taylor, writing in the journal "Lancet," states that "raw-food eaters" by and large have healthier teeth than people regarded as "civilized."

Forks and knives, writes Dr. Taylor, allow "civilized" people to put into their mouths food too hot not only for fingers, but for teeth, too.

Despite these ominous facts and theories, the dental picture is far from bleak.

Cavity Vaccine

For example, scientists at the University of Notre Dame and other laboratories are now working on an anti-cavity vaccine. Hopefully, someday this research will lead to a vaccine which will prevent tooth decay in humans.

Also, the U.S. armed forces have developed a successful triple fluoride approach to preventive dentistry. Navy recruits have seen their rate of new tooth decay slashed up to 90 per cent with periodic cleaning of the teeth with a stannous fluoride paste, periodic applications of stannous fluoride and regular toothbrushing after every meal.

The Army isn't napping either. To replace cumbersome bandages inside the mouth, Army researchers have come up with a spray-on adhesive.

Ex-Prisoner Plans Dinner For Generals

NEW YORK (AP) — A German businessman and former war prisoner plans to sit down to dinner next week with a roomful of U.S. Army generals, including perhaps the general whose soldiers captured him.

Heinz Hoppe, general manager of Mercedes Benz of North America, invited the brass to come to dinner Nov. 7 in an exclusive Washington D. C. club because he and the generals have something in common—Stuttgart.

Industrial City

The West German industrial city has been the home of the Daimler-Benz Automobile Corporation since 1884, and the home of the U.S. 7th Army since 1945.

Among those at the dinner will be now retired Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe who told the Germans "nuts!" when they asked him to surrender at Bastogne during the battle of the Bulge.

It was May 3, 1945, when Hoppe—a German staff officer—was captured by 7th Army troops. He asked to be presented to the commanding general but never got to meet him because the general was too busy.

Miss Mercouri Given Protection After Threat

NEW YORK (AP) — Greek actress Melina Mercouri has been placed under police protection after the FBI warned of a possible attempt on her life, a spokesman said Thursday.

The danger presumably stems from her outspoken criticism of the military junta now ruling Greece. "Really for the first time in my life I am frightened," she told newsmen.

Miss Mercouri, who is now starring in the Broadway musical "Ilya Darling," said she would not stop her campaign. "Never, never, that would be cowardly. I am not a coward."

The junta earlier revoked her citizenship and confiscated her property in Greece when she refused to obey a government ban on selected Greek songs and plays, including the work of Aristophanes.

She said she had a message for the junta: "There will always be people. Greek people, who will fight for the return of a democratic government there."

2 MIGs Downed in Dogfight; Restricted Hanoi Site Blasted

Phantom Jet Credited for Both Kills

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force jet downed two MIGs in air combat over North Vietnam today while other planes attacked a sprawling military storage area in the outskirts of Hanoi for the first time. It had been on the Pentagon's out-of-bounds list.

The initial U.S. Command report of the downing of two Korean War-vintage MIGs by an F4 Phantom jet did not say where the dogfight occurred. They were the 97th and 98th confirmed MIG kills for American pilots in North Vietnamese air battles.

The announcement came after the command reported that U.S. Air Force jets had raided the Gia Thuong storage area less than a mile north of the Gia Lam air base, which is across the Red River from the heart of Hanoi and is North Vietnam's main civilian air field.

A spokesman said the MIGs were shot down by a 20mm cannon slug under the belly of the Phantom.

Based in Thailand, Credited with bringing down the two MIGs were Capt. Darrell D. Simmons, 33, of Vernon, Tex., the aircraft commander, and 1st Lt. George H. McKinney Jr., 24, of Bessemer, Ala., the pilot. Both crew members are assigned to the tactical fighter wing at Ubon, Thailand.

Gia Lam is also the only MIG airfield U.S. warplanes have not yet attacked and one of about five major targets still on the Pentagon's restricted list. Among the others are the Hai Phong docks and railroad terminal and the power plant in Lao Cai, on the border of Communist China.

The Gia Thuong storage area is on the main northeast railroad and highway from Communist China to Hanoi over which military supplies come for North Vietnamese troops fighting in South Vietnam. The area is between two key bridges, the Canal des Rapides and the Paul Doumer, both of which have been repeatedly attacked by American bombers.

MIG's in Area

The American F105 Thunderchief pilots reported MIG17 and MIG21 interceptors in the area. The Air Force said recent aerial reconnaissance showed one of the Red jets, but the airfield had undergone extensive repairs. U.S. pilots who said in addition to the two MIG17s hit on the ground, they said the runway in 36 and apparently serviceable, but places, destroyed a hangar and damaged revetments for protection of parked planes and a taxiway.

A U.S. spokesman said Gia Thuong is considered one of the largest military storage areas in North Vietnam, with 72 storage buildings, 11 support buildings and eight administration buildings in the compound. He said the American bombs impacted on the buildings and on anti-aircraft sites protecting the area.

The spokesman said both the Canal des Rapides and Doumer bridges had been knocked out in previous raids and there apparently was a backlog of military supplies in Gia Thuong, making it "a lucrative target."

Phuc Yen Raid

In another major strike Sunday, Air Force Thunderchiefs again raided the Phuc Yen MIG base northwest of Hanoi and reported damaging at least two MIG 17 interceptors on the ground. In South Vietnam, meanwhile, South Vietnamese infantrymen battled Viet Cong troops near Loc Ninh.

One American F105 was shot down during the Phuc Yen raid, but two propeller-driven A1 Skyraiders drove off two MIG17s while a "jolly green giant" helicopter rescued the pilot.

It was one of the deepest rescue penetrations made in the war in North Vietnam, a U.S. spokesman said.

The F105 was the 726th U.S. combat plane announced lost over the north.

The northeast monsoons cut heavily into the air activity, and only 72 missions were flown Sunday, about half the normal number in good weather.

The attack on Phuc Yen was the seventh since it was taken off the Pentagon's restricted list and hit for the first time on Oct. 24.

In the attack Sunday, pilots made the first strike Sunday. The story, headlined Disagree-ment Yields Debate, Dissent Breeds Dissension, is a condensation of a speech by Daniel J. Total Defeat of Mercenary Harassers Claimed by Congo

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — The Congolese government says it has defeated all the mercenaries that had been harassing it—the group which had held Bukavu since Aug. 8 and another band which invaded from Portuguese Angola last week.

The government said Sunday that the rebel forces at Bukavu had fled across Kivu Lake into neighboring Rwanda and the invaders were fleeing back to Angola after a Congolese victory in Katanga Province.

In Geneva, the International

Red Cross Committee said It said the priest was among three persons killed and the nun was wounded.

Since July, about 20 European civilians have been reported killed by the Congolese army or police.

No military details were given on either battle front. The Congolese had launched a massive attack on Bukavu early last week and kept up steady mortar fire and air attacks. Information Minister Jean-Jacques Kande said the town fell Saturday night.

Congolese soldiers took positions Sunday at the bridge over the Ruzizi River, the border between Rwanda and the Congo.

Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko said the situation was quiet in Katanga, where the invaders from Angola had split into two columns, one heading for Kasaji and the other for Kisenge.

There was no word on 25 men, women and children—mostly Belgians—who the government said were taken away by the mercenaries. Bomboko said French-born mercenary commander Robert Denard was among the invaders from Angola. He was wounded while leading white mercenaries in a revolt against the government in the eastern Congo July 5 and was evacuated to Rhodesia. His successor, Col. Jean Schramme, a Belgian, long a resident in the Congo, had been leading the force in Bukavu.

The Portuguese Embassy denied that any troops had crossed from Angola into the Congo but said the Portuguese government would check whether any infiltration had taken place.

Recovery Rapid Pope Improved Enough To Discuss Business

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI discussed church business today for the first time since his operation Saturday and was visited by his two brothers.

The Pope conferred for 45 minutes with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state. He also was visited by his brothers, Sen. Ludovico Montini and Dr. Francesco Montini, a heart specialist.

The Pope's progress since his operation aroused belief that he may be able to resume some of his usual activities sooner than expected.

A midday medical communique confirmed the Pope's progress. It said: "The Pope's post-operative course remains excellent during the second day."

Temperature Normal

It said his pain had eased considerably and he had asked for no special measures to control it. It added that his temperature never exceeded normal during the night.

There is talk in Vatican circles that the 70-year-old pontiff, whose prostate gland was removed Saturday, might be allowed to appear at his window, briefly next Sunday or the one after to bless the noonday crowd in St. Peter's Square.

Immediately after the operation, Vatican sources said they did not expect the pontiff to give a Sunday blessing until Dec. 3, the first Sunday of Advent.

Doctors Optimistic

The new prediction was an indication of the optimism and relief over the outcome of the Pope's operation.

The general tone of the communique as well as a television interview Saturday night by Dr. Pietro Valdoni, who headed the surgical team, was considered

A Wisconsin Marine and a Vietnamese baby are delighted to meet each other in a village near Da Nang. Cpl. Joe J. Treffin, Richland Center, Wis., was patrolling the area when he came upon the infant dressed in a sweater and cap against the morning chill, but with no diapers, a Vietnamese custom.

Governor Vote LBJ Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kentucky's race for governor Tuesday may provide a meaningful test of voter feeling toward President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Republican Louie B. Nunn, 48, who came close to upsetting Gov. Edward T. Breathitt four years ago, has hammered on the war in his bid to beat out Democrat Henry Ward, 58, a former highway commissioner.

Mississippians, who also will elect a governor Tuesday, meanwhile have witnessed a unique campaign by Rubel Phillips in his bid to become the first Republican to occupy the state house at Jackson since Reconstruction days.

Help Negroes

Phillips, considered to have virtually no chance against Democratic Rep. John Bell Williams, has pegged his campaign to warning the voters that Mississippi's future lies in bettering the lot of its Negroes.

Until a month ago, Ward was heavily favored to beat Nunn, despite the Republican's impressive 1963 race against Breathitt. But Kentucky political observers now are calling the race a toss-up.

Given credit for Nunn's apparent surge is his use of the slogan: "Tired of the war? Vote Nunn."

Although he hasn't made clear what a Kentucky governor could do about Vietnam, lawyer Nunn may have capitalized on what observers feel is widespread, gnawing dissatisfaction among Kentuckians with the war. Johnson outpolled Barry Goldwater by 296,000 votes in Kentucky's 1964 presidential balloting.

Ward Quiet

Ward, soft-spoken and colorless, has contended Nunn's campaign aims at fanning racial unrest. He pictures himself as an efficient, experienced administrator and repeatedly asks: "What's the alternative to me?"

But Ward, seeking to perpetuate the Democrats' 20-year hold on the state house, has shied away from backing Johnson's policies. Nunn says of his opponent: "No candidate has ever tried harder to deny his own party."

About 800,000 Kentuckians are expected at the polls Tuesday, where they'll also have a chance to vote for a conservative candidate, Christian Glanz, who hopes to garner 2 per cent of the vote so former Alabama Gov. George Wallace can appear on the presidential ballot next year.

an of Congress, has campaigned little against Phillips in Mississippi. Most observers believe he didn't need to and Democrats are saying the only question is how big a victory margin Bell will roll up.

Phillips, 42, a Jackson lawyer, polled 38 per cent of the vote against Gov. Paul Johnson in 1963. This time he adopted a campaign line seldom heard in Mississippi, saying the state can't cut itself off from the rest of the nation by continuing to fight desegregation rulings by the courts.

New Zoning To Be Adopted Early in '68

Two Public Hearings Held Before Council Takes Final Action

Appleton's new citywide zoning code will hopefully be adopted by the city council the second week in January, according to the plan commission's time table.

Hearings will be held to give residents an opportunity to submit objections or amendments to the code which has already been given extensive review by the commission and a group of real estate representatives.

"I would say the new code will be easier to administer than any in the past because it gives more flexibility," commented City Planner Walter Rasmussen, citing that new types of zoning districts have been added.

No Drastic Changes
(A complete layout of the new map reflecting the land uses proposed in the new code appeared in Saturday's Post-Crescent.)

While not calling for any drastic zoning changes, the code does revise portions of residential blocks surrounding the central business district to straighten its boundaries.

"Only portions of blocks are involved to give physical evidence of the business district cutoff," Rasmussen said.

At the first public hearing on the code at city hall Nov. 15, application forms will be available for filing objections or amendments.

Dec. 10 Deadline
They will be filed with the city clerk, who in turn will refer them to the plan commission for further consideration or rejection.

It was announced that Dec. 10 is the anticipated deadline for submitting revisions.

On Dec. 20 the commission will make its final recommendation and then it's up to the council.

In mid-January the city council will conduct a final public hearing before acting on the new code.

Schools in City Plan Open House

Open houses have been scheduled for a number of Appleton schools in connection with American Education Week.

There will be a "go to school" night at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Appleton High School-West, an open house at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday at Wilson Junior High School, and at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Franklin and at 9 p.m. Nov. 14 at Einstein Junior High.

Wilson will have a different format this year. Six areas of education will be discussed on a seminar-type basis. Each parent will be able to participate in two of the sessions.

Discussion Subjects
Curriculum will be discussed by Orlyn A. Ziemann, secondary curriculum coordinator; budget, by Supt. William Spears and Charles Buchanan, board president; the non-achieving or under-achieving student, by Kenneth Johnston, principal, and Noran Tebo, instructor.

Recent changes in approaches to teaching will be outlined by Miss Dorothy Koller, secondary consultant, Carl Voecks and Mrs. Ruth Gresham, Wilson instructors and preparing for high school and college by Miss Annabelle Wolf and James Kissinger, counselors.

Xavier High School served as host school this year to the planners of the Wisconsin Junior Classical League meeting Saturday. Council Climate Favorable For Women Bartender Vote

Chill Keeps Thermometer Beneath 32

Snow flurries during the past 24 hours weren't even enough to cause a count in precipitation inches, but they were a reminder that the temperature is low enough to get water out of standing boats, shut off water flow through pipes at summer cottages and get anti-freeze in car radiators.

The unseasonable chill, with enough wind to cause the buttoning of coats and the wearing of scarves, gloves and mittens, never went above freezing Sunday, and plummeted to 25 Sunday night in the Appleton area.

Citizens shivered throughout the state with high temperatures, 15 to 20 degrees below normal. Racine, with 33 degrees and Milwaukee and Appleton with 32 had the best break. Other highs were Beloit and Green Bay 31; Madison, Lone Rock and La Crosse, 30; Eau Claire 29; Wausau 26; Superior 25, and Park Falls 24.

Lows included Superior's 13; Park Falls 19; Eau Claire 22; Racine and Green Bay 24 and Milwaukee, Madison and Crosse 26.

Appleton Chairman Says Majority Committed to Amend Ordinance

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

There are enough "committed votes" within the city council to overturn Appleton's long-standing ban on women bartenders, The Post-Crescent learned today.

For decades there have been a series of unsuccessful drives to amend the ordinance and lift the ban — the latest attempt was about two weeks ago.

Earlier in the year a woman who applied, and was denied a bartender's license, appealed to the State Industrial Commission to take action against the city.

Conduct Investigation
The commission conducted an investigation during which City Atty. David Geenen proved that the City of Appleton was not discriminating against women.

"We've got the votes," reports Ald. Richard Huisman (1st), chairman of the welfare-ordinance committee, which also has been divided on the thorny subject of women bartenders.

Other aldermen also indicated there are "at least a dozen votes in favor of changing the ordinance."

Huisman, who over the years has championed the cause for women bartenders, was among those predicting the ordinance will be amended at the Nov. 15 council meeting to permit women over 21 years of age to tend bar in establishments with class B liquor licenses.

No attempt will be made by barmaid proponents to lower the age requirement for anyone receiving an operator's (bartender) license.

Restrict Licenses
Geenen says that while the city's ordinances allow women to tend bar in a minor bar where only beer is served, and also permits them to serve drinks in

Neenah Youth Escapes Uninjured in One-Car Accident Near Shiocton

A 17-year-old Neenah youth was uninjured late Saturday after the auto he was driving missed a curve and ran into a farm yard on State 76, five miles south of Shiocton.

James A. Niemuth, 113 Green Meadows, was charged with driving too fast for conditions by Outagamie County authorities.

Police said the Niemuth auto was heading south on State 76 when it missed a curve, went through a fence on the L. Van Camp farm and ran into the farm yard.

Police said Niemuth's auto was demolished.

Bishop Tells Lutherans

Value of Reformation Cited

MILWAUKEE — "Rediscover what it means today to all Christians, not just Lutherans, the beauty of life and the rediscovery of the mercy and justice of God should be the two said. "There is no use turning the main themes of our Reformation into a sort of a museum. If it was only an event, a noted church leader told a large crowd of Lutherans at a festival service here Saturday.

The Rev. Dr. Hanns Lilje, bishop of Hanover, Germany, should be the questions," he said and president of the United Lutheran Church of Germany, who has been a leader of ecumenical work for 40 years. Lilje drew parallels to Luther's dealt with the Reformation and day and to modern society.

"That time, like ours, was a time of tremendous changes. Old systems were breaking down and people were uncertain of the future. Today, too, there is an explosion of knowledge; the structure of society is undergoing deep changes and we, too, are in the midst of a revolution. People question the very existence of God," the Lutheran leader said.

But this only means that life is full of challenges and that as Christians it is up to us to face these challenges, the bishop added.

"There is nothing as poor as a person who is not interested in anything, who seeks in no way to meet the thousands of challenges around him," Bishop Lilje stressed.

Many try to avoid the misery in life because it is easier not to see it, he said. "Modern society has a way of giving the impression of being helpless despite the many modern advances. Here is where the Christians could show what they believe — by helping those who are on the fringe, the outcasts, and those who just don't care anymore," he stressed.

"What is any ideology or religion worth which consists of assemblies and meetings and doesn't see the outside world?" the church leader asked.

"Mercy and compassion, the look upon man in his misery, are the two small features of Christianity which no one else can imitate," Dr. Lilje said. "Obligation to fellow man is performed by many societies but we forget that that is not mercy and compassion," he added.

The other main theme of the Reformation, according to the leader of 50 million Lutherans, is that man discovers himself and through that, freedom.

"Luther, who stood for the overwhelming sense of God's majesty and presence, wrote that one thing is characteristic of the hour of death: 'Man has to pass that hour alone. Nobody else can step into his shoes,'" Bishop Lilje said.

Live Own Life
What he meant, the bishop added, was that no other hour can be handed over to somebody else either. You have to live your own life.

The other element which man can learn in his hour of death, if he didn't learn it before, is that he has a master; sometimes he is hard to recognize because he is a hidden God, the God who

Taxpayers Ask $204,000 Slice in Outagamie Budget

Group Cites 75 Per Cent 2-Year Jump

A reduction of $204,000 in the proposed 1968 Outagamie County tax levy was called for by the Appleton Taxpayers Association Monday at the public hearing on the budget.

Thomas Lally, representing the association, said the nearly 75 per cent increase in county tax levy over the past two years "makes it mandatory the county board make every effort to reduce expenditures to reduce the heavy impact on the citizens of Outagamie County."

Two representatives of the Taxpayers Association were the only citizens to attend the hearing on the $7.7 million budget which calls for a $3.3 million tax levy, an increase of $582,000 over 1967.

Request Action
Lally, citing the $825,000 raise in levy in 1967 and the proposed 1968 increase, said the association felt that increases of that magnitude called for "drastic action" on the board's part to minimize the tax impact.

Several reductions in spending were suggested along with more liberal revenue estimates in a number of areas. Major recommendations:

Meetings Called To Spur Building Of New School

In an effort to expedite the start of construction on the new southside McKinley Grade School, the board of public works and city council will hold short, special meetings Wednesday night.

Mayor George Buckley and City Clerk Eldon Broehm conferred on the matter today in view of a recent board of education request to move swiftly with approval of building contracts and waiver of certain street requirements.

Without council authorization, Buckley and Broehm are not allowed to sign letters of intent or waive code requirements.

However, the council had previously scheduled an informal "workshop" meeting for Wednesday night to review the proposed 1968 budget as recommended by the finance committee. The school matter can be acted on first.

Buckley had indicated he would be "happy to expedite the school construction" but was in no position to approve contracts on his own. The next regular council meeting is Nov. 15.

Board Denies Attorney Fee For Schwartz

Denial of $536 Claim Filed Without Dissent of Members

The county board has denied the request of Supv. Ralph Schwartz, Appleton, to be reimbursed for attorney fees incurred during a dispute last spring over his eligibility to sit on the board.

A recommendation from the Executive Committee, contained in a letter from Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, to deny the claim was accepted and filed without dissent.

Schwartz's seat on the board was declared vacant when he moved from his district. He was later appointed back to the board when he resumed residency in the district. He had sought to collect $536 in attorney fees.

Dispute Insurance
An apparent dispute over the employee insurance program was laid over until Wednesday when the cost of the proposed insurance package is known.

In a letter to the board, Carl Van Ryzin, chairman of the employees' insurance committee, asked the county to have the health and accident insurance program rebid, or the employees would seek their own insurance. He asked for a decision by Thursday.

Conservationists Honor Supporters

Give Warning at Awards Meeting Leaders Board Posts in Jeopardy

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Amid warning that conservation may suffer a defeat Tuesday at the hands of the State Senate, state conservationists met Saturday to pay tribute to their leading workers of the year.

Meeting at the annual Governor's Awards Banquet of the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, more than 600 conservationists heard Sen. Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan, warn that some of his Senate colleagues may act Tuesday against conservation leaders who fought the Kellett Government Reorganization Bill.

Confirmation of the appointments to the Board of Natural Resources which grew out of the conservation-waged struggle to kill the Kellett Bill is expected Tuesday, according to Keppler, who was hailed by the group as the State Legislator of the year.

Opposed Kellett
Keppler was actively opposed to the sections of the Kellett proposal which pushed the merger of the State Conservation Commission and the Board of Resource Development.

He warned that some Senators may have a silent pact to refuse to confirm one or more of the leading members of the new board who fought its creation. Among the guests listening to his comments were five of the seven members of the new board which is comprised of four members of the old conservation unit and three from resource development.

Present for the banquet were Russell Lynch, Wauwatosa, head of the new unit and a critic of the consolidation, and Charles F. Smith, Wausau, leading fighter of the merger.

Absent were two members of the old resource unit who had favored the creation of the new board to which they have been appointed — John Potter, Wisconsin Rapids, and Prof. Gerald Rohlich, Madison.

The Wildlife Federation led the "Red Shirt" contingent that fought against the merger. "Red Shirt" buttons were much in evidence at the banquet.

Outstanding Organization
The Brown County Conservation Alliance, led by President Allan Ross and Past President John Volletz, received a mountain goat statuette for being the outstanding conservation organization in the state during the past year.

UW Fox Valley Center Maintains Liaisons With Larger Universities

BY DR. HARRY M. HUTSON

What makes a university great? Promote Research
Medical universities advanced the frontiers of knowledge in law, medicine, theology and philosophy. Today's universities promote research, in a hundred fields.

Many of its faculty members are engaged in research at either the pre-doctoral or post-doctoral level. The staff and faculty of the Center are in constant use by University Extension to provide service to the area.

Smaller Scale
In short, the Fox Valley Center is the university on a small scale — small in terms of student enrollment and faculty size, sports program and physical facilities, but it is also unique. The Center opens its doors to students of limited means who cannot afford to go away to college. Students who might find it hard to adjust to life away from home, or on a large campus, can try out their wings at the Center. Classes are small and professors accessible. There isn't even a parking problem!

All of these considerations should be framed in a larger perspective. The Center is part of the

Pollution Fight Won't Hurt Industry

NEENAH — If the paper and allied product firms in Brown, Calumet, Outagamie and Winnebago counties, do everything they can to cut water pollution, they will still be able to maintain their relative strength in the industry, a report released today by the State Department of Resource Development, Madison, stated.

"In order for firms here to maintain their relative strength in the industry it will be necessary for them to participate more closely in the development and use of equipment for the purpose of reducing and minimizing water pollution," the report states.

"This aspect in itself could be a limiting factor in the future growth of this industry concentration, since the degree of pollution present in the Fox River and Green Bay is nearing a level where the health of the public is being threatened," it continues.

"Water pollution has been a problem for many mills in the past and several have installed purification systems to condition the water. The State of Wisconsin now requires mills to install pollution control systems to reduce the amounts of raw waste liquors directly entering the streams.

"The costs of these systems are not expected to inhibit the future expansion of the industry."

Major growth in this northeast Wisconsin area has occurred in the conversion aspect of paper materials, rather than in pulp and paper products and the sector is deemed market-oriented rather than raw material-oriented. Labor here is in good supply and of excellent quality, union relations are good, the product line is diverse enough to anticipate changes in consumer demand, according to the report.

Wisconsin's paper and allied products industry has long been a leader in labor productivity and from 1950-1962 it increased its level of productivity at a faster rate than the surrounding states or the United States.

It is predicted that while employment will increase, yet it will not match the increase in output.

Area employment in the paper industry grew 38.4 per cent in the last 15 years, faster than the state, national or area averages.

The report, entitled the Economy of East Central Wisconsin, is taken from the seven economic reports included in the 20-odd volumes of the Wisconsin Development Series. It contains three reports in one volume, including an analysis of the area's population, an industry-by-industry analysis and programs for the economic development of the area.

Mrs. Romney To Miss Talk In Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — Michigan Gov. George Romney, a front-running but still unannounced Republican presidential candidate, will address Winnebago County GOP at a breakfast session at the Pioneer Marina Motel Wednesday morning.

However, his wife, Lenore, will not accompany him. She was hospitalized Sunday after suffering a broken shoulder in a fall in the bathtub.

Romney will arrive at the Winnebago County airport around 7:30 a.m. Wednesday and will be escorted to the Pioneer where some 200 persons are expected for the breakfast talk.

The 60-year-old GOP leader has indicated he would announce whether he would make a bid for the nomination on Nov. 18.

Romney will enter Wisconsin to test the political climate Tuesday morning in a breakfast meeting in LaCrosse. He will then give a major address on the University of Wisconsin campus in Madison and attend a private dinner for Republicans in Madison on Tuesday evening.

Following his address at the appearance is co-sponsored by Pioneer Wednesday morning, he will fly directly back to the go County Republican Party.

Mayor Urges City Residents To Observe Veterans Day

Mayor George Buckley today urged Appleton residents to fly "Old Glory" Saturday in observance of Veterans Day.

He issued a proclamation commending the men and women who "served in the uniform of our country and contributed immeasurably to the preservation of America's freedom."

Buckley said there are now Americans serving in the armed forces and "championing the cause of freedom being threatened by the forces of an aggressor seeking world domination."

Noting it was a legal holiday by act of Congress, Buckley asked residents to display the flag "as a reaffirmation of our support of national purpose and as an expression of appreciation of the sacrifices required for the preservation of our freedom to this day."

Buckley is a World War II veteran who served in the U.S.

Neenah Firemen Settle Contract

NEENAH — The firemen reached agreement with the finance committee Friday for new contract terms, thus ending three months of negotiations and bringing all city departments into accord on 1968 contracts.

By a vote of 14-10, members of Local 275 of the International Association of Fire Fighters ratified the contract Friday evening, which calls for an overall wage increase of about 4 1/2 per cent.

The firemen also received a 58-hour work week, replacing the present 63-hour week.

Two Autos Recovered Fleeing Car Thief Tackled by Police

MENASHA — Two stolen cars stopping and starting with taken from Appleton owners squealing tires at the Third and were recovered by Menasha Racine stoplight.

The chase ended in the Palisades area of the Town of Menasha after the driver lost control of the vehicle and it crashed on a private lawn. The driver attempted to flee but was tackled, wrestled to the ground and handcuffed by the police officer after a struggle.

The 16-year-old Appleton youth volunteered that he had stolen the car, police said. Officers said he had been drinking.

He was turned over to Appleton police along with four citations by Menasha officers, charging speeding, driving on the left side of the road, attempting to elude a police vehicle and driving without a license. The car was returned to the owner, listed as Jean Sells, 204 W. Prospect Ave., Appleton.

Sunday morning, police found another car, owned by Dennis L. Nief, route 4, Appleton, and abandoned along Water Street. Nief had reported its theft to Appleton police. Earlier in the day, paper sacks of clothing and other articles were found by four boys along Lake Road. Registration papers for the car were among the items, alerting police to watch for the car.

OSHKOSH — Dr. Ralph A. Norem, 78, 1312 Elmwood Ave., retired Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh professor and former Sixth District congressional candidate, died at 5 p.m. Sunday.

He was born April 12, 1897 in Sioux Falls, S.D. and attended St. Olaf College. He received his BA, MA and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota.

A teacher for 43 years beginning in rural North Dakota, he taught the last 30 years in Wisconsin. He retired from WSU-O in June, 1966, where he had been professor of political science and economics for 27 years.

Active in the Democratic party, Dr. Norem was its candidate for Sixth District congressman in 1952, alternate to the national convention of the Democratic party in 1956, chairman of the Winnebago County party in 1958 and the party's county treasurer candidate in 1964.

Dr. Norem also had an avid interest in Japanese floral arranging and had one of the most outstanding collection of books on the subject.

He was a member of the Fox River Valley Gladious Society, Oshkosh Horticultural Society, Masonic Lodge No. 27, Oshkosh, Optimist Club, Candle Light Club and Agoma Boulevard Methodist Church.

Survivors include the widow, five brothers and one sister.

The Valley Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. There will be no visitation at the funeral home. A memorial fund has been established for the Agoma Boulevard Methodist Church. A service will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the church.

NEENAH — MENASHA — Vernon Zingsheim, superintendent of the sewerage treatment plant the past four and one-half years has submitted his resignation.

E. E. Den Dooven, sewerage commission president, announced this morning the commission had reluctantly accepted the resignation, which is effective Nov. 24.

Zingsheim, who has been in charge of the plant since work began on the secondary treatment facilities now nearing completion, said today he has decided to seek private employment.

The 1.2 million expansion of the treatment plant to improve its efficiency is complete except for current tests and experiments.

Robert Jones, an officer of the firm, said today that the current shutdown tests have been "up to expectations."

Pact Signed at Appleton Firm

2-Year Wage Boost Averts Strike at Fox River Tractor

A possible walkout was averted with disclosure today that the Fox River Tractor Co. and Local 1335 of the United Auto Workers Union (AFL-CIO) agreed on a new two-year contract.

The pact, calling for wage increases and liberalized fringe benefits, was ratified over the weekend by the union membership and went into effect today. Last week, it was learned, members of Local 1335 rejected a company proposal, and negotiations resumed, resulting in another vote and ratification.

Contract Expired
The old contract expired Oct. 31. Assisting the company and union in negotiations in recent days was a representative of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service office at Green Bay.

About 300 production workers at the firm, a leading manufacturer of farm and road maintenance machinery, will be covered under the agreement.

It calls for a 25-cent per hour wage boost for most job classifications the first year and a 7 to 8 cent hourly increase the second year.

An estimated eight per cent of the force classified in a special skilled category will receive somewhat higher increases.

The contract also provides for an additional paid holiday, shift differential pay, improved vacation schedule and a job evaluation system, among other things.

Joseph Wysocki, Oshkosh, was the UAW representative who headed up the union's negotiations. Meetings between management and union representatives on a new contract were held over the past two months.

"We are looking forward to continued good relationship with the union," a company spokesman said today.

public property and insurance committee, said they had reached agreement with the employee group on every thing except the rebidding of the program.

Want Change

He said he could see no reason for rebidding and his committee was recommending staying with the present carrier. Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton, another member of the committee, said it was simply a case of the union wanting a different insurance carrier.

Supervisors started the slow process of going through each of the department budgets this morning, but had not recommended any changes during the initial inspection.

The highway, parks and airport budgets are all slated to come up as special orders of business Tuesday.

The group has furnished tools and equipment used in the Green Bay West High School the summer conservation project headed up by the union's negotiator and a long term lease for the Rockland 4-H Club conservation demonstration area. It also distributed free conservation films to all Brown County schools.

Also honored at the banquet was former Conservation Commissioner Paul J. Olson, Madison, as the outstanding conservationist of the year.

He was hailed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles for his long "battle for wise resource use and a better environment."

Consumers Group Appleton Youths, 13 and 14, Honors Nelson May Attend Shooting Course

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Gaylord Nelson won an "award of merit" from the National Consumer Assembly here last week, although his speech to the 1,600 delegates was interrupted by the arrival of President Johnson.

Nelson, the original author of the automobile and tire safety legislation passed last year and chairman of a Senate committee investigating high drug prices, was cited for his "extraordinary service in the cause of consumer protection."

A shooting education course available in today's Post-Crescent should be turned in at any part of a National Jaycees effort. Krafft also said the course may be offered for boys and girls to teach good gunmanship to young people across the nation, from ages 10-14 if enough 13- and 14-year-olds are do not sign up.

Classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 22 at the Appleton Fire Station on North Drew Street. A 25-cent fee will be charged for parents has been set for 7 p.m.

The 13 one-hour courses to be Wednesday, Nov. 15, in the St. Joseph Grade School gymnasium. Jaycees chairman Jerry Draft said that application blanks.

The course will include instruction in gun handling rules, different types of guns and their uses, aiming and firing of guns from different positions and competitive shooting examinations.

The last class will include an open house and competition between youngsters and their parents in shooting matches. Winners will receive awards.

Council Climate Favorable For Women Bartender Vote restaurants, the specific prohibition against females applies to places holding the class B liquor licenses.

"There is nothing in the ordinance prohibiting the issuance of an operator's permit to a female," Geenen explained. "However, even with the permit she could not work in a place with the class B liquor license," he said.

There has been somewhat of a conflict about the ordinance when looking at it through legal eyes, and the unwritten policy of the common council toward women bartenders.

It is recalled that when there was a showdown vote on lifting the ban completely last year, the proponents lost 10-9.

Those opposed to changing the ordinance claim it will result in "an outbreak of women bartenders in Appleton," and fear that police will be burdened with more enforcement problems.

Fear Problems
"There are times when a woman just can't handle some of the situations or arguments that develop in a bar," was the way one alderman put it.

Some aldermen have been under the impression women can tend bar in a class B liquor place, providing a licensed male operator is on the premises. There is nothing in the law to this effect, according to Geenen.

Geenen said he was not familiar with policies of councils dating back several years, and that his interpretations are based on the ordinances.

That the barmaid ban will definitely be under heavy pressure at the next council meeting is the disclosure that Marge M. Wiza, 802 E. Winnebago St., has again formally applied for an operator's license.

She was the applicant who took her case to the Industrial Commission last year.

It would appear Mrs. Wiza's application is intended to again be a major test of the ordinance.

Taxpayers Ask For Budget Cut mended cut was two highway department paving projects totaling $106,000.

One of the recommended deletions was the paving of a portion of the W. College Avenue extension (County Trunk CA) for which $61,000 has been allotted. The other project is paving of County Trunk VV at a cost of $42,000.

Other recommended budget reductions were Riverview Sanatorium, $6,500; outpatient dispensary at Riverview, $7,700, and Golden Age Home, $20,000.

These reductions would be achieved Lally said, by increasing the revenues at the two institutions.

Up State Aids
At Riverview, the association recommended increasing the estimated state aids by $1,000 and other revenues by $6,500, and revenues for the outpatient dispensary by $7,700.

The same recommendation was made at the Golden Age Home, to increase revenue estimates or, if necessary, increase the rates to reduce the net cost.

More optimistic estimates on the amount of shared taxes the county would receive from the state also were recommended.

They suggested increasing the estimated shared income tax by $36,000 and the shared utility tax the inventory has been completed at Winnebago State Hospital figures indicate the county will receive $22,000 more than anticipated from the state colonies.

hides himself behind so many human traits and features, like the compassion and mercy mentioned before," the speaker said.

"But when man starts to despair, all he has to do is turn around, to look at his fellow man, and he will recognize the face of God." This is the essence of Christian faith," the bishop added.

"If our celebration is to have any meaning, it must lead us back to this knowledge that Martin Luther discovered: the knowledge that we are able to know something of joy, freedom and at the same time, responsibility, something of God's majesty and the courage to live a full life. That is the essence of the Reformation for all Christians," the Lutheran leader concluded.

pared for this year and that amount could also be applied toward reducing the levy.

Blames State
County Executive Secretary Al Woehler said that about $550,000 of the total levy increase resulted from the Health and Social Services department, and increased state chargebacks for county patients in state institutions.

The county's share of the social services budget is up $300,000 while the state chargebacks increased $216,000.

Woehler said the county is now conducting a complete inventory of the county patients in each state institution to make sure they are being charged only for Outagamie County residents. He said the inventory has been completed at Winnebago State Hospital figures indicate the county will receive $22,000 more than anticipated from the state colonies.

Colts' Furious Finish Tips Packers, 13-10

Grabowski and Pitts Injured Early in Game

Elijah May be Out For Season; Starr Lauds Bay Defense

BALTIMORE — Somebody spelled his name Eliza in the program . . . but the name is Elijah. Remember that because it may be someone before it again becomes prominent.

Packer halfback Elijah Pitts may be through for the season.

This was the revelation made by Packer Coach Vince Lombardi, which added yet another reason to mourn Sunday in the wake of Baltimore's furious finish that produced a 13-10 victory over the Packers in Memorial Stadium.

With only six minutes gone in the game, Pitts slipped off the field on one foot, never to return.

"It looks like a torn Achilles tendon . . . he may be through," is the way Lombardi put it.

And Pitts understandably dejected, muttered "I don't even know how it happened. It was a screen play and I just got hit and felt it in my ankle."

Jim Grabowski, sidelined just about 2 1/2 minutes later, was equally uninformed about what happened to him. Lombardi said his fullback had suffered a knee injury but didn't know how serious it was.

"Knee Just Bent"

But with ice packs being worked against his knee, Grabowski said, "All I know is my foot was planted and the knee just bent on me. To tell the truth, I really don't know what happened."

And Lombardi didn't know how much the loss of his two starting running backs in the first nine minutes of the game had affected the somewhat limp Packer offense. As a matter of fact, he said, "I haven't got the slightest idea. They're all professionals. We're supposed to have people to replace them."

It was volunteered that Donny Anderson and Ben Wilson had played a good game as the replacements and Lombardi acknowledged, "I would say so."

If Pitts is sidelined and Anderson steps into his place on the full-time basis, Lombardi indicated that the punting chores may go back to Don Chandler.

Anderson, who ran for a highly respectable 63 yards in 10 carries and caught five passes for 34 yards, including a 31-yard TD toss, averaged only 31.6 yards on eight punts. Included were hoots of only 23 and 19 yards in the third quarter.

Chandler Sent In

Chandler was sent in for the Packers' final punt. And Lombardi, after first noting that a couple of Andy's kicks were against a brisk wind, pointed out, "he was playing a lot too. And it's hard to do both. We only used Chandler because Andy was playing quite a bit."

Anderson had an explanation for his troubles, though.

"On those last two I wanted to get them on the sidelines. I've never practiced that since cold didn't run in to score when they legged. But I thought this would be got close. He's been scrambling a good time for it."

He also admitted, "I had some this season. But he did his run-back drops and followed through around a long way from too high." In answer to a query

Sayers' Long Runs Help Bears Down Detroit, 27 to 13

Gale Returns Kickoff 97 Yards, Goes 63 on Off-Tackle Play

By BILL HALLS
DETROIT (AP) — Gale Sayers set up one touchdown with a 63-yard run and scored another on a 77-yard kickoff return to ignite the Chicago Bears to a 27-13 National Football League victory over the Detroit Lions Sunday.

The victory was Chicago's second over the Lions this season and third in eight NFL games. The loss was Detroit's fourth, snapping a two-game winning streak. They have won three and tied one.

The Bears jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter, driving

75 yards in six plays for the first touchdown and picking up a second when linebacker Doug Buffone grabbed a Karl Sweetan fumble at the Detroit one-yard line and fell into the end zone.

Set Up TD

Sayers set up the first TD, scored by Jack Concannon on a quarterback sneak by racing 63 yards off left tackle to the Detroit one-yard line.

Detroit cut the Chicago margin to 14-7 when Sweetan hit Mel Farr, who scored twice for Detroit, with a nine-yard pass to earn a 59-yard drive in the second quarter.

On the next kickoff, Sayers rumbled 97 yards down the left sideline behind perfect blocking to put the Bears in front 21-7.

The Bears' Mac Percival, who had one field goal blocked and another which hit the upright, booted two others of 32 and 47 yards in the third quarter.

Farr scored his second touchdown on an 11-yard end sweep in the third quarter. Tom Vaughn set up the score with a 60-yard kickoff return.

Unitas Throws 2 Scoring Passes In Final Minutes

BY LEE REMIEL
Post-Crescent News Service
BALTIMORE — All-pro in defeat as well as victory, sinewy Herb Adderley replayed the climactic scene in the "Battle of Baltimore" Sunday afternoon with quiet dignity.

Reconstructing the Baltimore maneuver that torpedoed the Packers in the final seconds, the veteran left cornerback turned from his locker in the world champions' mite dressing room to explain, "I had good position on him (the Colts' Willie Richardson). I was right on his shoulder."

"He was still running and we bumped a little bit, which threw my balance off and I fell down. . . he did a good job of screening me off."

"It was a good pass and a good catch," the lithe Michigan State product said with characteristic honesty, adding matter-of-factly, "I did the best I could."

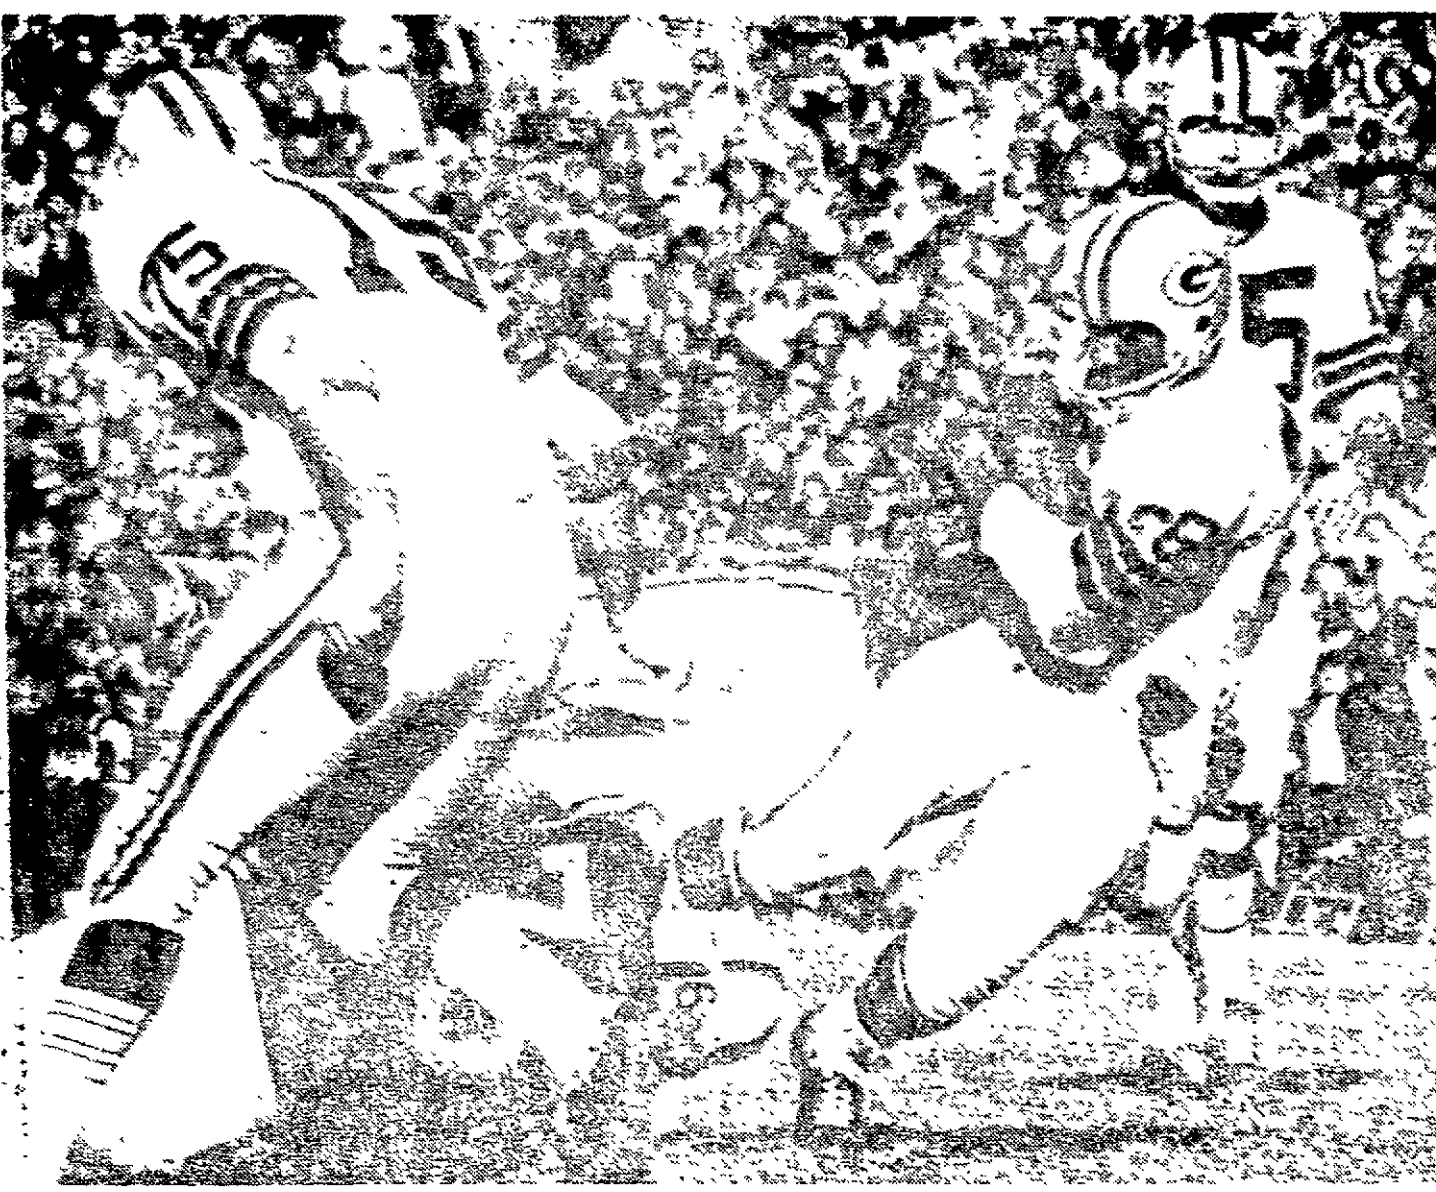

Whirls Away

Thus had the fast-rising Richardson, who had whirled away from Adderley on the Packer 1-yard-line and into the end zone, abruptly converted a budding Green Bay victory into a 13-10, come-from-behind triumph for the Colts and a highly partisan, capacity gathering of 60,238 slightly ecstatic customers in Memorial Stadium.

Parlayed with a 62-yard scoring drive minutes earlier and a painfully successful onside kick, it had forced the Packers to accept defeat for only the second time in their last 21 games and dimmed the luster of a defensive performance which had bordered on the fantastic before the tide abruptly changed late in the fourth quarter.

There was, however, some solace for the Packers in the knowledge that, despite this rare misfortune, they retained their 2-game lead in the NFL's Central Division because the runnerup Detroit Lions also faltered, submitting to the Chicago Bears, 27-

'Flea' Breaks Loose for 3 TDs as New Orleans Outlasts Eagles, 31-24

By BEN THOMAS

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — This football-mad town's darling Saints have finally won a regular season National Football League game and the guy who scored three touchdowns for New Orleans—Walter "The Flea" Roberts—could probably win any public office he desires today.

New Orleans scored its first points ever in the fourth quarter and hung on for a 31-24 triumph Sunday over Philadelphia. Tom Fears, "I was just completely disgusted. Then I heard the roar."

Roberts picked up the bobbling ball and waited dangerously near the white out-of-bounds stripe 27 yards into the Eagle end zone.

"Gary had called a play on which Jimmy flared out to the left and I ran a turn in to the same side," Roberts explained.

fourth-period touchdown, offsetting two by The Eagles. He hauled in a Gary Cuzzo pass on a play covering 49 yards.

In the second period, Roberts scored on a play spanning 55 yards. It began with a Cuzzo pass and almost ended with a Jimmy Taylor fumble.

"When I saw Jimmy fumble, I ripped the field telephone headset off, threw it to the ground and buried my head in my hands," said Saint Coach Tom Fears. "I was just completely disgusted. Then I heard the roar."

Flubbed Snap From Center on Extra Point Try by Michaels

Post-Crescent News Service
BALTIMORE — The Packers were beaten on a 100-1 shot here Sunday.

That, in essence, was the way Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi described the astonishing 13-10 victory accomplished by the Baltimore Colts here Sunday.

"You try 100 onside kicks and one is successful," the surprisingly cordial Lombardi said in the numb Packer dressing room shortly after the "one" turned a sure Green Bay triumph into a bewildering defeat.

Trailing 10-6 with 2:19 seconds left, the Colts' Lou Michaels bloomed a short kickoff over the front line of Packers. The ball hit and careened sharply to the right. And the Colts' Rich Volk raced down to recover it at the Packer 34. In five plays, including a fourth down scramble for seven yards by quarterback John Unitas, the Colts scored again and pocketed the victory.

60,000 Knew It

"I saw the ball go by. Somebody should have had it," Lombardi added. "We had everybody up there. We were expecting the onside kick. Everybody knew it was coming. . . 60,000 people knew it. It just turned out fortunate for them and unfortunate for us."

Reminded that Detroit had also successfully worked an onside kick against the Packers and turned it into a field goal in the 15-15 season opener, Lombardi hastily pointed out that "There's no comparison. That was a surprise. We were ready for this one."

But like Lion Coach Joe Schmidt, who had declared after his game that he had fully expected to be able to make the onside kick work, Colt Coach Don Shula said, "Yes, we thought we could make it work."

But he declined to explain why, noting with a chuckle, "we're going to play Green Bay again."

Possible Clash

He undoubtedly had reference to a possible Dec. 23 clash in Milwaukee which would match the Packers and Colts for the NFL's Western Conference championship if each wins its divisional title.

Volk, who turned from goat to hero within seconds, almost bashfully volunteered, "Our offense had picked up and we needed the ball so there was nothing to do but go get it."

The rookie defensive back from Michigan, ironically described in the Colts press book as having "excelled on the special teams," pointed out, "it was a deep onside kick. They had six or seven men up front but once the ball got by them there weren't many others there to get it."

The 6-foot-3, 195 pounder had actually given the game to the Packers very unwittingly when

Vikings' Comeback Stuns Giants, 27-24

By LEW FERGUSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (ST PAUL AP) — First a Minnesota which has beaten Green Bay and now Baltimore added the snap of the New York Giants to its list of recent victims Sunday, and coach Bud Grant says the Vikings may have several more surprises in store this season.

"We haven't played a game this season that we didn't think we would win," Grant said after the Vikings had ambushed the Giants 27-24 on Fred Cox's 19-yard field goal with 19 seconds remaining.

"Our record should be better, and it will get better," Grant added. "We know the kind of football we are capable of playing. It's just a matter of getting the job done."

At 2-5-1, the Vikings can do no better than 2-5-1 this season and yards in a game, two minutes to that kind of record if not likely set in the winning field goal.

To win the Central Division, the Packers have to win the game. But Grant's Canadian came against a defensive NFL Football League team, were ordinary that has a lot of speed. . . know for their strong finishes. The Vikings eked out a deciand the young Vikings may also come with a rush.

99-Yard TD Return

Chris Jones of Michigan State rumbled 99 yards with a kickoff for a touchdown—the second longest return in Vikings' history—offered Lamar Rintzel's 101-yard fumble in 1965.

Bob Gray of Oregon raced 81 yards to a punt to set up a touchdown, tying the longest punt return in Minnesota's seven-year history.

And Gene Washington of Michigan State caught a pass from the Kato and sprinted 55 yards to a touchdown.

The Vikings eked out a decision in their first regular-season game with the Giants since they traded Fran Tarkenton to New York last March.

Tarkenton turned in his usual fine performance, passing for 270 yards and three touchdowns and scrambling for 56 yards more. But it wasn't enough, and he paid tribute to his old teammates in a post-game visit to the Vikings' dressing room.

Deserved to Win

"They played better than we did, and they deserved to win," Tarkenton said. "They put plenty of pressure on me. They've got a very good defense, as good as we'll see."

Grant praised his defense for the job it did on Tarkenton after he lofted 66 and 45-yard touchdown bombs to Homer Jones in the opening seven minutes.

"His scrambling didn't hurt us that bad," Grant said. "He never practiced that since cold didn't run in to score when they legged. But I thought this would be got close. He's been scrambling a good time for it."

He also admitted, "I had some this season. But he did his run-back drops and followed through around a long way from too high." In answer to a query our goal today, and he had to keep the ball a lot."

When Tarkenton hit Aaron Thomas on a 48-yard scoring pass early in the second half, it staked the Giants to a 24-7 lead.

The Giants had a golden opportunity to win it in the closing minutes, when a pair of pass interference penalties covering 63 yards moved them to the Minnesota 20. But Bill Tripiett fumbled the ball away and Gary Larsen recovered for the Vikings.

"It was a sloppy game all around," Giants' coach Alie Sherman said. "Maybe we should have won it, but we at least should have had a tie. When Washington caught that pass, nobody could catch him and that was the game."

LA Defense Decisive

Rams' Rally Downs '49ers

By PAUL K. LEE
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rock-ribbed Los Angeles defense frustrated the San Francisco 49ers Sunday and gave the Rams a comeback 17-7 victory before a disappointed Kezar Stadium crowd of 53,194—largest in five years.

Several free-for-all fights broke out in the stands near the finish. The result left the Rams in possession of second place in the National Football League's Coastal Division with a 5-1-2 record and the 49ers third with 5-3.

The 49ers' first drive from their own 23 was stalled by the Rams' defense at the 10. Irv Cross blocked a 17-yard field goal attempt by Tommy Davis.

San Francisco then drove 64 yards in 11 plays and two penalties for a touchdown. With 18 seconds left in the first quarter, John Brodie passed to John David Crow 22 yards and Davis converted to make it 7-0.

Come Back to tie
The Rams came back with a 66-yard, six-play touchdown drive. The big gainer was a 54-yard pass play from Roman on a fourth-quarter 17-yard run Gabriel to Jack Snow. Dick from the 24. He had moved the Bass finally punched in from Badgers to the Indiana seven-the one and Bruce Gossett yard line. But, the Badger kicked the point to tie it up. Broken Hand To Sideline UW's Todd

MADISON (AP) — The game wasn't all Wisconsin's football team lost Saturday, when its best effort of the season ended in a 14-9 defeat at the hands of Indiana.

The Badgers also lost their star fullback, Wayne Todd. He has a broken left hand, coach John Coatta said Sunday.

Todd was last year's leading rusher for the Badgers and led Wisconsin's ground attack again Saturday, before he was injured. He had compiled 33 yards before the fracture occurred.

"Losing Todd on that drive, when we had plenty of time to come back for another score was the big thing," said Coatta. "We Todd suffered the broken hand march died four plays later on the Indiana nine.

Volk Becomes Hero With Kick Recovery

he flubbed the snap from center and fouled up Michaels' extra point try after the Colts first touchdown.

Tie at Worst

"If Michaels had made the extra point, we'd have come out of it with a tie at the worst," Lombardi felt. He appended, however, "I'm assuming they would have gone for the field goal," in reference to the fourth and six situation at the Packer 30. If Michaels' kick had been good, the score would have been 10-7 and the logical play would have been a field goal for the Packer. But since he missed, a field goal would have made the score only 10-9, not enough. The miss forced the Colts to go for the touchdown.

But the miss was not Michaels' fault. Volk accepted full responsibility and grinned. "I'm just glad I was able to make up for it." He had been pressed into service as the holder for Michaels when regular holder Bobby Boyd was forced out with an injury that is thought to be a shoulder separation. Explaining his difficulty, Volk said, "It was a good snap but I tried to hurry the spotting. I was thinking of getting the strings straight and I lost control of it. When I finally got it down, it was way off the spot. It was angled wrong and I was holding it with my thumb. Nobody could have kicked that one right."

That was probably not what Shula meant when he said, among other things in his party atmosphere office in the innards of Memorial Stadium, "the ball finally bounced right for us."

Touchdown Pass

He had reference to the onside kick, but he might also have referred to the touchdown pass tossed to Willie Richardson. Herb Adderley, covering Richardson, contended "I had a hand on the ball, but he bumped me a little while we were both going for the ball and I went out of bounds."

Furthermore, it was a perfect throw pass, one of not too

Kimberly Given Educational Lift By Association

Teachers to Promote Group Activities During Observance

KIMBERLY — American Education Week, scheduled throughout the week has prompted the Kimberly Education Association (KEA) to endeavor to enlighten the public on the importance of education and the role played by teachers in development of the student, school and community.

The KEA was organized here in 1950 with a membership of about 30. Today, because of district consolidation and the rapidly increasing student population, the membership has grown to 122.

This year, for the first time, the KEA will make an effort to publicize the activities and functions of the organization. Pierce Giffey, president, has named Mrs. Joyce Hardtke, Mrs. Lorraine Brill, William Brink and Mrs. Judie Burgess to a publicity committee.

Prepare History

The committee will prepare a history of the organization which will be updated each year by future committees. Membership is open to all educators in the public school system. First president was Gilbert Frank.

Objective of the group is to elevate education standards, improve and extend educational opportunities for children and adults, to advance ideals and interests of the teaching profession, create a deeper sense of dignity and worth, furnish opportunity to study educational problems, promote unity among the professional staff, cooperate in community projects and co-operate with the Wisconsin Education Association in the advancement of education with the improvement of the teaching profession.

In 1961-62 the association helped promote the awareness of a need for a new high school and gained compensation for summer school credits.

Scholarship Award

In 1962 the association decided to award a scholarship to a graduating Kimberly High School senior, this is the first scholarship to be awarded by a local group. Harold Wenzel Jr. was the first winner and earned his degree. Money came from concession stand sales at football and basketball games.

Mark Seidel was the 1964 winner. Two scholarships have been awarded each year since 1965. Winners were George Sylvester and Joan Stienen, 1965; Barbara Bahling and Pauline Pairon 1966, and Joseph Hank and Ellen Hopfensperger, last year.

Scholarship committee and fund committee were set up to handle the project and a Future Teachers Organization was formed at the high school to acquaint potential teachers with knowledge of the profession. Movies from the Wisconsin Education Association were introduced to KEA meetings to help elevate educational standards.

Bargaining Agent

In 1965 the association was recognized by the board of education as the exclusive bargaining agent for teachers.

A Banner Proclaiming National Education Week was strung across the main street in Kimberly by village crews last week. The banner was prepared under the direction of the publicity committee of the Kimberly Education Association. Special school tours and conferences with teachers are also planned next week in keeping with the observance. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Test Well Report Goes to Board At Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — Glass and Donaldson Engineers, Waupaca, will report to the village board on Nov. 16 on bids for a test well to be drilled to locate an additional village water supply.

The engineering firm has been reviewing bids submitted by two private contractors for the well to be drilled in the western part of the village.

Most of the village's industry is near the west village limits and concern about adequate water pressure and water supply in case of an industrial fire was expressed at a recent village board meeting.

Bankers to Talk At Greenville Club Meeting

GREENVILLE — The Greenville Athletic and Civic club will meet at 8:30 Tuesday evening, Nov. 14 instead of today.

Gilbert Rehen from the Appleton State Bank will speak on money and banking and Leo Martin, also from the bank, will talk on organization and banking legislation before the assembly.

A report will be given on the Land and Water Conservation project on land purchasing.

Attend Overseas Mission Meeting

Mrs. Edward F. Douglass Jr., Appleton, and the Rev. Theophilus F. H. Hilgeman, pastor of Peace Church, Brillion, will be among 225 delegates to the 158th annual meeting of the United Church of Christ Board for World Ministries, overseas missionary arm of the UCC, Nov. 14-17 in St. Louis.

Threats to world peace and to under the direction of Edward Wulgaert, Walter Rennebohm, Mrs. Helms and Mrs. Hardtke. The banner will be displayed across the village hall throughout the week.

Fremont Youth Loses Arm in Farm Accident

Tractors Needed To Release Limb From Corn Picker

A 19-year-old, route 2, Fremont youth had his right arm amputated above the elbow at St. Elizabeth Hospital this morning as a result of a corn-picker accident early Sunday morning.

Marlyn Hahn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Hahn Sr., was working on one of his father's town farms, 7 miles south of Fremont before 8 a.m. Sunday morning, when he noticed the corn picker was not working right. His arm apparently was caught when he checked the equipment.

According to young Hahn's mother, when the father was traveling between his two farms, he noticed the equipment being used by his son wasn't running, and he went to see what was wrong. He couldn't get the arm out alone, and went back to the house to have his wife get help from the neighbors.

Two men, Russell Wohlt and William Fischer, both of route 2, Fremont, brought tractors to pull the rollers on the picker apart with the assistance of Ray Pagel, Weyauwega, who had been driving by with his milk truck.

Mrs. Hahn said other neighbors came to help, including Mrs. Wohlt and Mrs. Fischer.

Hahn Jr. was taken to Waupaca Riverside Hospital emergency room by ambulance, and then immediately transferred to the Appleton hospital.

missionary work brought about by the war in the Middle East, problems of world poverty and hunger and the changing nature of missionary work will be discussed.

The corporate members of the board are responsible for the work of the 450 UCC missionaries in 30 countries.

Garrett Rushes for 192 Yards Leading KC Victory, 42-18

Oakland Hikes Record to 7-1 By Getting Past Denver, 21-17

By MIKE RECHT Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs, pulled by their mighty little en- gine, appear on the track again and picking up steam, looking more and more like the Super Chiefs of 1966.

Still hopeful of another shot at the Super Bowl, the once-falter- ing American Football League defending champions ran over the New York Jets 42-18 Sunday after crushing Denver last Sun- day.

The victory enable the Chiefs 5-3, to hold their ground against Oakland and gain some against San Diego, the teams ahead of them in the Western Division.

Oakland raised its record to 7-1, but did not resemble any ex- press in buffing and puffing by Denver 21-17. San Diego was idle.

us like they did," said New York coach Weeb Eubank. "We just couldn't stop Garrett. When we stopped him on one side, he'd go to the other."

Carried 23 Times

Garrett, the fourth best rusher in the AFL entering the game, should move into the No. 2 spot after his 23 carries.

"It's the best over-all per- formance we've had this year," Coach Hank Stram of the Chiefs said. "It's very obvious we're getting better each week, and this victory is very encourag- ing."

The Jets, no easy mark, lead the Eastern Division by a game over Houston. It was only their second defeat and they trailed only 13-10 at the half before the Kansas City defensive line over- whelmed Joe Namath and the Chiefs' offense began moving.

Garrett's TD run, Willie Mit- chell's 27-yard TD run with an interception and Len Dawson's scoring pass to Otis Taylor, all in the third period, put the game out of reach.

The Jets also lost halfback Emerson Boozer, the AFL's leading scorer. He suffered torn knee ligaments and needed sur- gery, the club said.

Tougher Time

Oakland had a much tougher third time in eight tries, ran up time against Denver. Two Dar- ton Lamonica to Bill Miller TD son as Wray Carlton ran 15 passes and two George Blanda times for 97 yards and two field goals provided a 21-7 Oak- land lead late in the third quar- ter before the Broncos came alive.

Bartlett, Tribune Golf Editor, Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles Bartlett, 62, golf editor of the Chicago Tribune since 1931, col- lapsed and died early today in a Chicago restaurant.

Bartlett was secretary of the Golf Writers Association of America at the time of his death. He was first elected to the post in 1946.

Bartlett joined the Tribune in 1924 and worked in the public service department. He worked as a reporter, rewrite man and sports copyreader before being named golf editor.

He is survived by his wife and two sons. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

ver's second score in the fourth quarter and an 11-yard punt gave the Broncos another chance at the Raider 21 midway through the session. But all they could salvage was a field goal, their last good shot.

"This was a long way from one of our better games," Oak- land coach John Rauch admit- ted. "Still, we had it on offense and defense when we needed it."

Missed Chance

Houston, 4-3-1, missed its chance to tie the Jets as its vaunted defense held Boston to three Gino Cappelletti field goals and a safety until late in the final period, but could set up only one Oiler TD. That came after recovering a Boston bumble that led to a 45-yard scoring march that closed the gap to 11-7.

Buffalo, winning only the third time in eight tries, ran up its biggest point total of the sea- son as Wray Carlton ran 15 passes and two George Blanda touchdowns. Billie Masters also caught Jack Kemp's two scor- ing passes, and Tom Janik ran an intercepted pass back 19 yards for the fifth TD.

Fumbles Costly Cardinals Turn Pair Of Redskin Mistakes Into TDs, Win, 27-21

says the Washington Redskins aren't the Green Bay Packers. And he's glad of it.

"We didn't have the stuff we usually have," said Winner Sun- day after his Cardinals defeated Washington 27-21 in a National Football League game. "We didn't have our customary zip."

"I don't know if it was the Green Bay game but we didn't have it."

The Cardinals dropped a 31-23 decision to the Packers last Monday night after going into the fourth period with a 20-17 lead.

Redskins Mistaken

The Redskins were leading 14-13 going into the fourth quarter. But in the final period the Car- dinals converted two Redskins' mistakes—an interception and a fumble—into touchdowns.

Safety Larry Wilson ended a Washington drive with an inter- ception on his own goal line and returned the ball 44 yards. Quarterback Jim Hart then hit Jackie Smith for 55 yards and sneaked over on the next play.

A few minutes later the Car- dinals were forced to punt but rookie John Love fumbled. Ten plays later Johnny Roland crashed over from the one.

After the kickoff, Washington quarterback Sonny Jurgensen passed to Bobby Mitchell on a 55-yard touchdown play and the Redskins forced St. Louis to punt again with 1:46 left but again Love fumbled, ending Washington's hopes.

Never Got Started

Washington Coach Otto Gra- ham, whose offense never really got started, said: "We just dropped balls. We always make the big mistake in the fourth quarter."

He had praise for young Hart, who threw an 11-yard touch- down pass to Bobby Joe Conrad early in the second quarter and completed 16 of 32 pass at- tempts for 252 yards.

Graham also wasn't too dis- pleased with Jurgensen, who completed only six of 18 pass attempts for 135 yards and one touchdown. He had led the league prior to the game.

"Jurgensen didn't necessarily have a bad game," Graham said. "Their defense gambles a lot."

The first Washington touch- down came in the first quarter when safety Brig Owens inter- cepted a Hart pass and raced 45 yards.

Washington's second score was set up on a 44-yard run by A. D. Whitfield. Jurgensen got the touchdown on a one-yard plunge.

Wysong Takes Hawaiian Open

Wins $20,000 by Beating Casper On Extra Hole

HONOLULU (AP) — Dudley Wysong addresses a golf ball as if afraid it was going to hit him back.

He started the $100,000 Hawaiian Open Tournament playing the 72-hole tournament, played Casper but his second into a hole over the 7,000-yard Waialae bunker blasted out nine feet.

Wysong won the $20,000 prize in a sudden death playoff. He was four under par for the four rounds.

Saints Score First Victory

The crucial moment for the Saints came in the waning moments of the fourth period after Charley Durkee had missed a 33-yard field goal attempt which would have given New Orleans a 10-point cushion.

Philadelphia took possession on the 20. George Rose broke up a Snead first-down pass aimed at Jim Kelly, who had earlier caught one for a touchdown.

Stooped on 4th Down

After a 16-yard toss to Ben Hawkins which left the Eagles four yards shy of a first down, Spirit rookie Dave Rowe batted down a Snead fourth-down pass.

"It took a little while after it was over for it to sink in that we had won," said Fears. "I had worn so numb in the fourth quarter thinking we were going to blow another one."

New Orleans cornerback latest in a series of injuries this year for Ryan, none of which has caused him to miss a game.

He retired after the third period with 13 completions in 21 attempts for 161 yards.

Nix Started

Pittsburgh started with rookie Kent Nix at quarterback, but Bill Nelsen relieved him with 6½ minutes left in the half after Nix had been unable to drive the Steelers past Cleveland's 43-yard line.

At that time, a field goal try was ruined when Ray Mansfield's snap from center hit kicker Mike Clark in the face.

Pittsburgh didn't make a first down until the second period and finally got on the scoreboard just before halftime on an 18-yard pass from Nelsen to Roy Jefferson.

Ex-Boxer Young Shot to Death

NEW YORK (AP) — A man identified by police as Terry Young, a popular lightweight fighter of the 1940's and early 1950's, was found shot to death in gangland style Sunday night.

Detectives said Young, 46, was found dead with several bullet wounds of the chest and body in the doorway of a neighborhood social club.

Browns Notch 34-14 Victory

Ryan Shakes Off Injuries to Toss 2 Touchdown Passes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Injured Frank Ryan fired two first quarter touchdown passes and the Cleveland Browns coasted to a 34-14 victory over the puncheon Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday in a National Football League game.

Ryan, whose status was in doubt until Saturday night because of a muscle bruise on his passing arm, connected with Gary Collins and Leroy Kelly, staking the Browns to a 14-0 lead.

They were never seriously threatened.

The muscle bruise was the latest in a series of injuries this year for Ryan, none of which has caused him to miss a game.

He retired after the third period with 13 completions in 21 attempts for 161 yards.

Reeves Scores 4 Touchdowns In Dallas Win

Cowboys Possess 2-Game Lead After 37-7 Falcon Defeat

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dan Reeves, pro football's noted free agent, had another big day Sunday when he caught two passes for touchdowns and ran for two more as the Dallas Cowboys moved two full games ahead in the Capitol Division of the National Football League.

He was the big man in Dallas' 37-7 victory over Atlanta in a game that showed several things:

1. That there are jewels among free agents if the scouts look closely enough.

2. That Dallas picks up in strength by just having Don Meredith in the lineup.

3. That Don Perkins is one of football's greatest runners. He became the 10th man to ever go over 5,000 yards when he romped to 111 against Atlanta. His total is 5,083 for seven years.

4. That any club in pro football would do handsprings to get a linebacker like Tommy Nobis of Atlanta.

Reeves, the man from South Carolina signed by Dallas three years ago when no one felt he was worth drafting, teamed up with Meredith to form a dazzling pass combination. It already was known that he could run. He showed that last year.

Reeves not only scored four touchdowns but helped set them up. His 15-yard run kept a drive going on the first Dallas touchdown made on a 60-yard pass from Meredith.

He caught a 27-yard pass to move Dallas into Atlanta territory on the next touchdown which he scored with a seven-yard reception.

He took an 11-yard pass to send Dallas to the Atlanta 25 and then hammered across from one yard out for the score.

He ran five, one and one to get the fifth touchdown.

He ran his touchdown total to eight for the season and it was noted that this was the third game he could be credited directly with winning.

about the wind, he declared. "It was a factor for me because I'm left footed and that wind was into my spiral most of the time."

Henry Jordan, sitting in front of his locker stall with hat and coat on but not quite ready to move yet, accepted compliments for the magnificent defensive effort by the Packers but he gloomily declared, "not quite good enough."

Bart Starr had a different theory, though. "We didn't get enough points for our defense. They played a great game," he said.

Lombardi readily agreed with Starr's evaluation of the defense and said of the miserly struggle, "You get two teams like this and that's what happens."

As to Unites, who was held to 15 completions in 32 attempts, Lombardi would only say, "I don't know what kind of job we did on him. We've had some good games against him before."

Baltimore Coach Don Shula also had some good words for the Packer defense, though.

"Davis is Fantastic"

"They have a pair of Willies (Davis and Wood) over there who are as fine a pair of defensive players as have ever been put together," he said. "That Davis is fantastic. We had Sam Ball up against him and we tried to double team, but when he goes he can beat anybody."

Shula pointed out, though, that the Packers didn't blitz even once during the game. He added, however, that Ray Nitschke made the big plays on two fourth-and-1 situations that the Colts went for and were foiled.

"They pinched their tackles in tight and Nitschke covered the outside. He stopped Moore (Lenny) both times. Tony Lorick had him down the second time but he just reached over and got Moore."

Starr also credited the Baltimore defense, particularly the Colts' rush on him which resulted in his being dropped six times for 44 yards.

"It was a good rush as I've faced this year... actually better by far," he opined. "They deserve a lot of credit."

Baltimore Coach Don Shula agreed that the Colts had blitzed a lot in this game and said they were getting them called at the right time and were executing their right."

Nevertheless, Starr felt "we should have put more points on the scoreboard." And in answer to the obvious question, he added, "with anybody in the backfield. We didn't have to change... not much anyway because of Pitts and Grabowski being hurt."

Replaces Boyd

On the one touchdown the Packers got, Starr acknowledged that he had picked on the Colts' rookie side. Charles Stukes had replaced injured Bobby Boyd at left cornerback and Ron Porter was at the left linebacker. Stukes took the first deep man leaving Porter to cover Anderson and the Packer halfback ran away from him.

"Stukes followed the end too far instead of coming back to help Porter," Shula said, "but he's going to be a real good one."

Regarding his own attack, Shula summarized the whole game by noting, "We wanted to balance our offense. But we couldn't mix in the passing very well early. We did mix it in when it counted."

The five players Minnesota finished the game with were the best the Muskies had. In fact, they were the only ones they had.

There was no help on the bench at the end of the Muskies' American Basketball Association game against Anaheim Sunday night because two players were injured and three had fouled out.

But by the end of three quarters, the Muskies really didn't need much help. They led 88-67 and eventually won 119-92.

Les Hunter, Ron Peery and Don Freeman each scored 19 points as the Muskies won their fourth straight. Ben Warley led Anaheim with 22.

Rally For Victory

The New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association also won their fourth straight, 115-107 over the San Diego Rockets.

Dick Barnett scored 22. Willis Reed 21. Howie Komives 19 and Dick Van Arsdale 17 for the Knicks, who came back from a 32-50 halftime deficit to outscore the Rockets 38-29 in the third quarter. Jim Barnett and Art Williams paced San Diego with 16 each.

There were no other games in either league.

Mark Kuglitsch Cops Top Prize In Pin Tourney

WAUSAU (AP) — Mark Kuglitsch of West Milwaukee won a key final match to take the $400 top prize in the 22nd annual Wisconsin Non-Professional Bowlers Alliance tournament Sunday. It was his fifth tournament victory.

The purse boosted him to third place in money winnings with $844.30.

Second place and $500 went to Gene Raffel of Milwaukee and Rich Wonders of Madison took third place of $150.

Will Goodwill of Milwaukee was fourth. Jerry Wiedmeyer of Milwaukee, fifth; Jim Hanke of Milwaukee, sixth; Jim Schwandt of Milwaukee, seventh; Bob Brayman of Milwaukee, eighth; Geno Hackbart of Merrill, ninth.

How Self-Employed Can Plan Retirement

BY SYLVIA PORTER

(In collaboration with the Research Institute of America)

banks, insurance companies, mutual funds and professional organizations which have established treasury-approved master or prototype plans. To adopt such a plan, you need just file a one-page form with the local District Director of the Internal Revenue Service.

Porter

Your funds can be invested in a wide variety of ways, depending on your own choice. You can buy anything ranging from insurance company annuity, endowment and retirement income policies to mutual fund shares and you can buy the "swinging" mutual fund shares too.

A drawback is the provision that if you have regular employees with three years or more of service, you must cover them. Obviously if you have several employees, the cost of providing coverage for them with a contribution of 10 per cent of their earnings will more than offset the law become effective next year which dramatically boost the tax advantages of these plans to you.

You can now set aside and deduct on your income tax return 10 per cent of your earned income up to $2,500 each year. In addition to being able to take a tax deduction for up to $2,500 a year, the amounts you set aside earn tax-free income until the funds are distributed to you in your retirement.

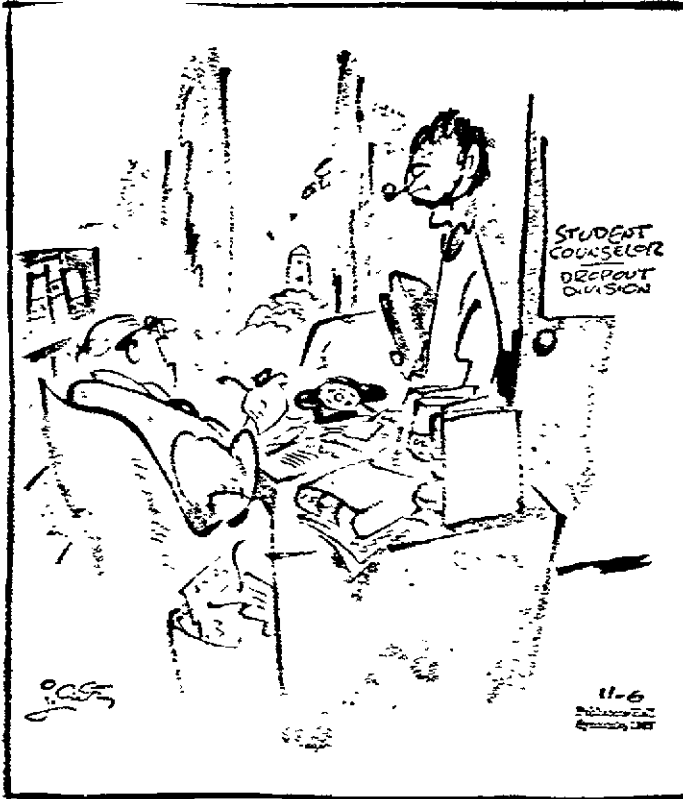

An Example To illustrate what this means, say you're in the 50 per cent tax bracket. A tax-free buildup at 5 per cent a year within your self-employed pension fund plan is equal to a 10 per cent buildup outside the fund.

This advantage stands until your pension money is paid to you in retirement and you must pay tax on the distributions.

A key to getting maximum tax benefit is to join or set up your self-employed retirement plan as soon as possible in 1968, and not to delay until late in the year.

Your 1968 tax deduction for up to $2,500 of contributions to your pension plan will be the same whether you make the contribution on Jan. 2 or on Dec. 31, 1968. But remember, one of the special tax breaks of a qualified plan is that the money you set aside earns tax-free income. Thus, the earlier you make your contribution to your plan next year, the quicker your deductible contribution will start to earn the tax-free income.

Check With Experts The simplest most practical Merit Employment Committee thing for you to do is to tie in of the Chicago Association of with an already existing self-employed retirement plan. In pooled 1,023 member firms and the weeks immediately ahead, found an over-all increase of 23,000 nonwhite employees.

"... And you'll find that a college education doubles a man's lifetime income, less the cost of football tickets and alumni fund donations."

To Your Good Health Yeast, Fungi Infections Need Professional Help

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: You were explaining about yeast infection in the vagina but you gave no treatment for it. Would you give some form of treatment for yeast and fungus infections?

Dr. Molner

Would douching be beneficial, and with what? — D.R.

No, I didn't give a treatment, and won't, and can't, because there is no treatment for "it." Rather, there are quite a few treatments for "them."

Vaginal infections are of quite a few types, and there is no way that I know for a layman to determine which is which.

Is the discharge and/or itching due to yeast, trichomonas, monilia infection? Is it irritation from soaps, or undergarments, or even irritation from too much needless douching? Diabetes is one possibility which must be considered, too.

In some cases in older women, deficiency of hormones is responsible, and hormone treatment brings relief.

State Dept. Tie With Greek Junta Under Fire

Foreign Service Officer Denied

Journalist-Critic Entry Into U. S.

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Shocking collaboration between the State Department and the six-month-old military dictatorship in Greece is exposed by the story, concealed until now, of how, together, they very nearly barred a prominent Greek political refugee from the U.S.

Ostensibly, U.S. policy is to keep arms length from the military junta which seized power in Athens last April. Behind the scenes, however, working-level State Department officials cooperate with the junta in ways

Well, thanks, but I can't tell whether you will keep on having cysts all your life, either. Nobody can say for sure. Some people are more subject to cyst formation than others, but sometimes cysts stop occurring just as unpredictably as they began.

A cyst is a plugged gland. If it is not bothersome, it is ordinarily safe to ignore it. If it is troublesome, then removal is the only effective course. Once that particular gland is removed, it can't become plugged up again. Merely lancing it, however, leaves the probability that it will become plugged and swollen again.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 16-month-old daughter has a habit which concerns me. She has several fuzzy stuffed animals and dolls of which she is very fond. When she gets sleepy she pulls the fuzz out and tickles her nose. I don't know how much goes up her nose, but some does, because I have gotten it out. Will this habit affect her breathing or health? — Mrs. J.M.

Cuddling a soft toy is normal enough; the fuzz-pulling, however, is not healthful. It can get nearly a dozen cysts. I asked the doctor if I would keep having irritation and a discharge from them all my life and he said he the nose. Some can actually be didn't know, so I told him I inhaled. I suggest that you would write and ask you. He told me to go right ahead as what child.

UN auspices in November might be endangered.

The junta responded with a dictator's compromise. On Sept. 12, it confiscated Demetrapoulos's passport containing a valid U.S. visa and replaced it with a new passport permitting him to travel to Poland only and only for the Sept. 12-15 conference. Demetrapoulos saw no future in Greece, and, once the

Open House at Ridgeway Stable Attracts 1,000

NEENAH — Attendance at the open house at the new Ridgeway Stable Sunday totaled more than 1,000, according to Art Day, owner. The stable is located one half mile south of the junction of State 150 and U.S. 45.

The open house program included inspection of a large indoor riding ring, boarding facilities for 27 horses, four tack rooms and the grooming area. The stable also features a lounge and saddle equipment shop for the recreational rider.

Day offers riding instruction and aids the novice in the selection of a proper horse. Future plans call for horse shows and a horseman's seminar.

Minor Injuries Result When Driver Hits Pole

LITTLE CHUTE — Ralph Managan, 19, 1302 E. Lindberg St., Appleton, suffered minor injuries when the car he was driving west on W. Main Street left the road and struck a utility pole about 5:20 a.m. Saturday.

According to police, the car jumped the curb, ran across a driveway at 319 W. Main St. and struck the pole. The driver told police he could not remember anything before the accident. He was taken home by his father who was called by police.

Rubbish Containers Taken at Laundromat

LITTLE CHUTE — Joseph Roth, owner of the Quick-Clean Laundromat, 1360 E. Main St., complained to police of the theft of two rubbish containers, the valued at $8.50, from his business place sometime Friday.

Warsaw conference finished, gained entrance to Denmark.

His plans were to attend a World Bank meeting in Rio de Janeiro as an invited guest and go from there to the U.S. That meant getting Brazilian and U.S. visas stamped in his new passport.

Although Brazil has been ruled by its military since 1964, it quickly granted a visa to Demetrapoulos. But not the Americans. Fearful of what Demetrapoulos would do and say in America, the junta pleaded with U.S. officials to keep him out. The U.S. embassy in Athens recommended the visa be granted anyway, but a foreign service officer named Daniel H. Brewster had other ideas.

Brewster, desk officers for Greece in Washington and the major formulator of U.S. policy on Greece, is an unabashed friend of the colonels. He decided that Demetrapoulos, staunchly pro-American and a visitor here repeatedly since 1951, be denied a visa. The incredible decision was revealed to Demetrapoulos in Copenhagen Sept. 23.

Has Friends in U.S.

That would have ended the story had Demetrapoulos been without friends here. He immediately cabled for help to an impressive list including Senators Vance Hartke of Indiana and Jacob Javits of New York, Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts, Representative Emmanuel Celler of New York, and former Governor Pat Brown of California.

Their queries were met by weak excuses from the State Department, but collective pressure from Demetrapoulos's friends forced the issue over Brewster's head, all the way up to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the White House. Brewster's decision was overruled and a visitor's visa given Demetrapoulos Sept. 28.

Demetrapoulos is now in Washington, but the incident is not closed. There is interest on Capitol Hill in a possible investigation of the affair to probe State Department - junta links that could perpetuate dictatorship in Athens and, in the process, unwittingly bolster reborn Communist resistance.

Vietnam Enters Humphrey Talk With Suharto

Indonesian Head Offers to Help Deal With Government of Hanoi

JAKARTA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed the Vietnam war with Indonesian President Suharto but did not ask him to mediate, sources in Humphrey's party said today.

The sources said Suharto indicated he could help the United States because he has diplomatic relations with Hanoi. They said Humphrey thanked him for the offer but never specifically requested any assistance.

A spokesman for Suharto had said Sunday that Humphrey asked the Indonesian government to mediate. The sources in Humphrey's party said this was incorrect.

Leaves Bali

Humphrey left the holiday island of Bali today. After a stop in Central Java to inspect an agriculture project sponsored by the American Food for Work Project, he was to be host tonight at a dinner for Suharto.

The vice president donned a sport shirt and relaxed on his overnight visit to Bali, an island of beautiful girls, colorful dances, smoking volcanoes, lush jungles and white sand beaches.

He was greeted by scores of lovely girls sprinkling him with flowers, and girls in colorful sarongs lined his route to the airport today.

More talks with Suharto were expected at tonight's dinner, and it was assumed the war in Vietnam as well as Indonesia's economic plight would be high on the agenda.

Offers Held

Indonesia earlier had offered to mediate but stressed that the conflict should be resolved by the Vietnamese people themselves and, if necessary, with the help of African and Asian countries.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik, in Bonn for talks with West German officials, told newsmen Sunday that "we are ready to do our share for both sides if they wish it."

"We have an ambassador in North Vietnam and we also have contact with the Viet Cong," he added.

Humphrey also told Suharto the U.S. government wants to help Indonesia overcome its economic difficulties and will join other creditor nations to help supply $925 million in foreign credits needed for economic development.

Knowles Lists Sources of Extra Funds

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles proposed today the state tap unused funds to pump an emergency $14.9 million into Wisconsin schools.

Knowles said the state can meet the needs by drawing on insurance funds and increased inheritance and gift taxes.

"This is emergency legislation," the governor told a news conference, adding he believes it deserves bipartisan cooperation.

If accepted by the Republican-controlled legislature, the proposal would enable Knowles to hold to his "no budget increase" pledge.

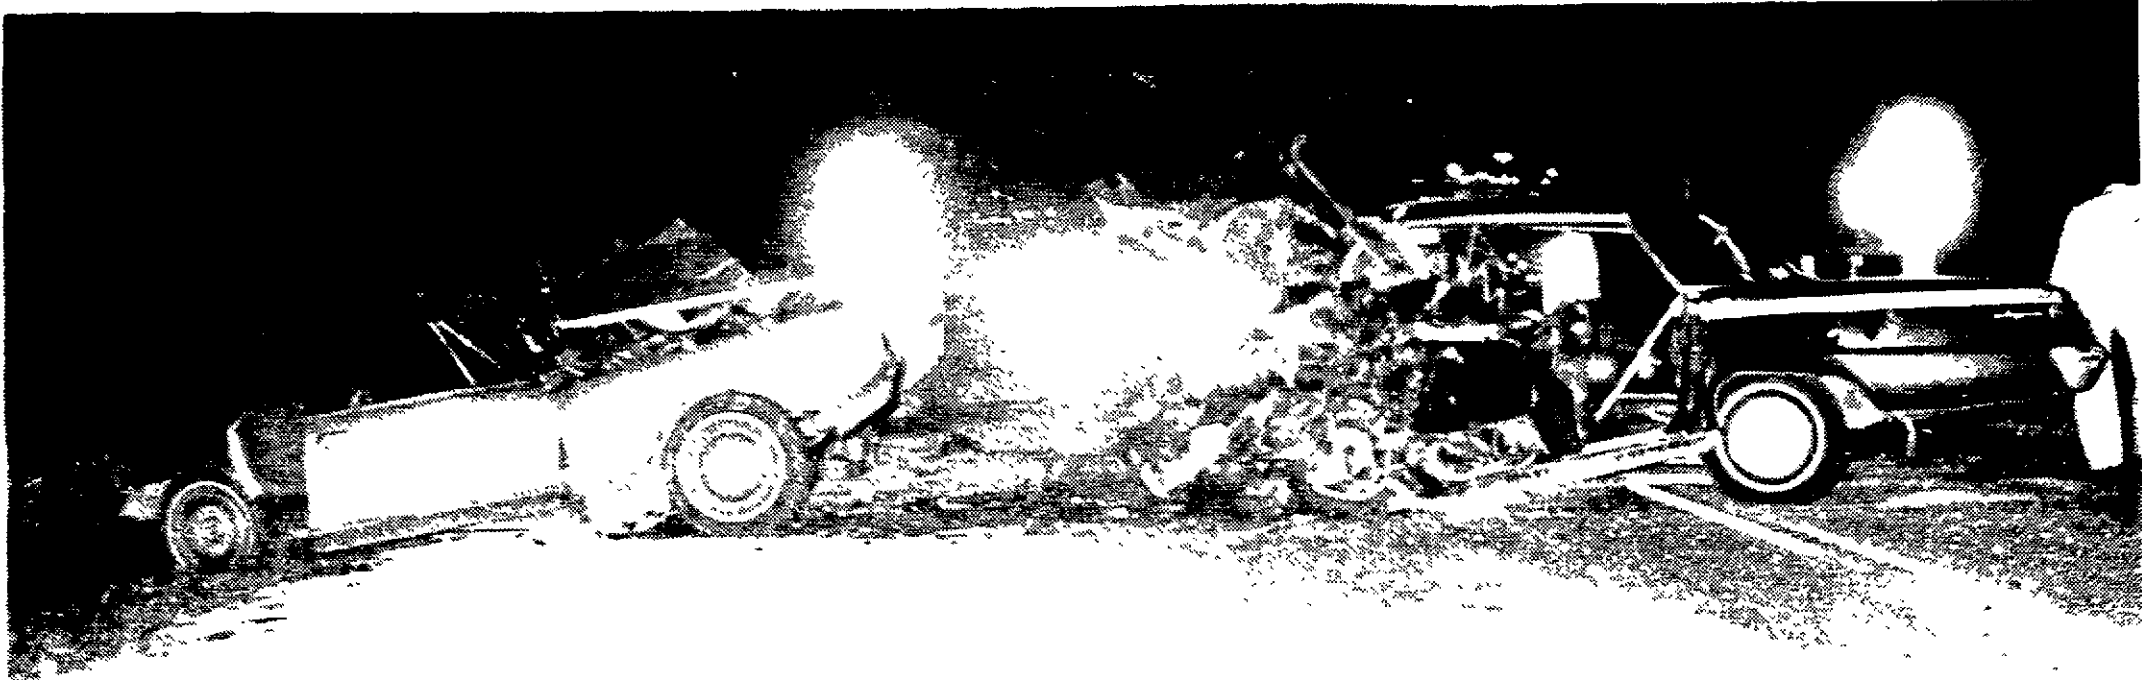

Under the governor's proposal, the state would draw on $5.4 million in increased inheritance and gift taxes, and on $3 million through an insurance fund transfer.

Those amounts would be coupled with a budget surplus of about $8.4 million in meeting school needs.

The state, however, would be left with a balance of only $288,100 at the end of the two-year budget period June 30, 1969.

"We always like to see a substantial surplus," Knowles said. "But we've got to learn to live within our income."

Of the total aid proposed for schools, $7.75 million would be pumped into Milwaukee for school improvements and related projects.

Negro Candidate Files Suit to Halt Note Denials

GARY, Ind. (AP) — National Guardsmen were moving into position today 10 miles south of here as a stop toward preventing any possible violence during Tuesday's election, a National Guard source said.

The Democratic candidate for mayor, Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro, and the Justice Department have filed suits seeking injunctions to prevent denial of the vote to qualified Negroes. A three-judge federal panel convened today at nearby Hammond to hear the cases.

The Guard source said at least 500 Guardsmen from Central and Southern Indiana moved on armored personnel carriers into the Lake County fairgrounds at Crown Point.

Judge Noble K. Littell of Morgan Superior Court at Martinsville had issued a restraining order Saturday prohibiting Gov. Roger D. Branigan from sending Guard troops to the Gary area.

3 Vehicles Involved In Collision

HILBERT — A crushing, head-on collision west of here early this morning took the lives of five persons and injured two others critically. Three cars were involved in the collision on State 114 at 12:30 a.m., according to the Calumet County Sheriff's Department.

The fatalities added to the carnage on Wisconsin highways, which saw at least 23 persons die in accidents since Saturday morning. Dead in the Calumet County crash were:

Anton See, 30, route 3, Chilton, driver of one of the autos.

Janet L. Diener, 18, Hilbert, a passenger in See's vehicle.

Geraldine Peterman, 19, route 2, Brillion, another passenger in See's vehicle.

Donald Wenzel, 32, route 1, Menasha, driver of another auto, and Mrs. Earl Nettekoven, 27, Sherwood, Wenzel's sister and a passenger in his car.

Critically injured in the crash were Wenzel's 27-year-old wife Carol and Nettekoven, who is 23. Both were in surgery this morning at Calumet Memorial Hospital in Chilton. John Jacobs, 22, route 2, Hilbert, a passenger in the See auto, sustained a broken leg, elbow and hand and numerous lacerations. He was listed in fair condition today at the hospital.

Sheriff Irvan Vice estimated the time of the accident at 12:30 a.m. due to the watch on one of the cars careened along on their hour. Vice said his department received the first report of the accident from a nearby resident, who saw flames from the See vehicle, at 12:44 a.m.

Controlled Flames
Passers-by kept the flames under control until the arrival of the Hilbert Volunteer Fire Department, Vice said.

According to Vice, an auto driven by Leonard G. Smith, Appleton, was apparently traveling west on State 114 when it and the east-bound See auto collided.

The impact ripped off the bumper of the Smith auto, and its passenger, he said, of the two passengers was injured. See's auto careened off the road.

Lady Bird Discusses Life

Years in White House 'Takes a Lot' From First Family

Nearing the completion of four years' residency in the White House, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson discusses, in this interview, her husband, her children and her own life as the nation's first lady.

BY FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson says the President has a reasoned, searching reaction to mounting criticism and "keeps his head high, his feet on the ground and goes on working the best he can."

"He doesn't want to be rigidly bound into one set of thinking," the First Lady said. "He's always trying to learn and explore."

Approaching the anniversary of four years in the White House, Mrs. Johnson said she has never lived so intensely.

"Awareness of this house is like a shot of adrenalin—intensifying the desire to do the best you can to live up to what this country wants its first lady to be."

'Worth Everything'

The President's hair is whiter, he has more lines in his face. "It has taken a lot—it's been worth everything it takes," his wife said.

The family has "drawn closer together than we ever have been in our lives—there's just four of us in the same boat."

Asked whether she wants President Johnson to run again, Mrs. Johnson said: "I want him to do everything of useful work that he can for his country."

Mrs. Johnson is urging the President to relax at golf, and says she hopes someday he'll retire to Texas and teach young people about "the years of government that he has lived."

White House treaty room Mrs. Johnson thoughtfully discussed the White House and her family.

She recalled "a lot of things I've loved," like dining by candlelight on the Truman balcony with the President and their oldest daughter Lynda; running the family's dogs and wheeling her grandson's carriage on the south lawn. "Spine-tingling moments" like seeing young son-in-law Lucie's wedding gown stretched out across President Abraham Lincoln's massive bed, and "earnestly dramatic things" like the signing of the civil rights bill "with the lifetimes of hope and striving that went into it."

Lynda's Wedding

Here are Mrs. Johnson's responses to other questions.

Q How do you feel about the forthcoming White House wedding of Lynda to Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb?

A A heightened sense of excitement—and mostly a warm, happy expectancy that it will be just one of those great days to remember. . . . Lucie's was and it will always be one of the benchmarks—the great days in our life together. . . . I hope this wedding will take its place as a dignified and well-loved occasion in this house.

Q How do you feel about your future son-in-law going to Vietnam?

A Like any mother or mother-in-law, I feel concerned and I'll be praying. But I'll always be very proud. I like that young man and I'm glad there are folks like him fighting for us.

Q What did you think about the recent antiwar march on the Pentagon?

'Big Cleanup'

A (Mrs. Johnson revealed she and the President drove around Washington after a lunch on the weekend of the Pentagon march. I was thinking, "You know what a big cleanup job this was. . . . I feel it must be done deep in the heart of the city. . . . To some extent that demonstration was the fruits of an audience and perspective." It was about as unconstructive a work as I can remember seeing.

I feel nothing in the feeling I think is shared by millions of Americans—that we've got to start having more respect for the law that we must start more firmly enforcing the law.

Q The President frequently quotes from the troubles of his predecessors in office. Does this give you solace?

A It helps to get it in perspective. You know it's not the first time it's happened and certainly not the last.

Q Do you worry about the President's health?

A Well, I'm always concerned I don't think I actually worry. . . . he has many positive values, on his side. For instance, he can go to sleep whenever he sees a spark 30 minutes or his schedule. . . . This is a lot from heaven. I envy him that.

Constant Stream

Q Is the White House a land of non-stop activity?

A Emphatically yes—a vast stream of newspapers, a three-lane highway to the Johnsons can tune in three channels at a time: a quantification of mail and a constant stream coming through for meetings—from 4-H groups to business leaders. . . . I would say he lives in a veritable waterfall of opinion, information and exposure to all kinds of thought.

The other evening there were about 80 congressmen

Q Does the President ever really take a vacation from his job?

Q I think when he puts on his ranch clothes and gets in that car and especially in the warm weather and he turns the top down. Unless there's some sort of emergency that gets him on the car phone, he is a very relaxed man.

Other Things

And I must say he applies himself to other things. Is that in good condition, do those calves need more feed or to be put in a different pasture? Yes, he's quite able to take a vacation psychologically, and from desire.

But what he lacks these days, is just the time to lay down all that mountain of work and especially the night reading.

Supervisor Questions Cost Of Police in Grand Chute

Law Enforcement Chairman Says Town Getting Big Return For Small Payment to County

Some Outagamie County supervisors think the Town of Grand Chute is getting too much area. He said Little Chute has a for too little in the way of police protection.

One supervisor, Eugene Kloes of Appleton, chairman of the county board's law enforcement committee, wants the county's most populous town to either pay the county on a contract basis for police protection or protection. He said the town "put on its own police force."

Kloes found "qualified" law enforcement support for his plan Friday from other members of the law enforcement committee.

which has had the Grand Chute police situation under study for the some time. The committee has been using police investigation and traffic reports for the study.

Small Investment

Kloes was critical of what he indicated was Grand Chute's big return for a small investment in county police protection. He said the town has 5,000 people and a $65 million assessed valuation, and yet does not have a police department. He said Grand Chute's share of the $400,000 1968 county law enforcement budget is only $34,800.

Grand Chute has an elected constable who is paid $1,200 per year plus mileage, and two deputy constables. The town depends on the county for its primary police protection.

Kloes compared Grand Chute to Little Chute. He said Grand Chute has about the same

C of C to Hold Shoplift Clinic At New London

Police Will Talk On Methods Used To Catch Offenders

NEW LONDON — Lt. Alfred Krahn, a member of the Watertown Police Department, will demonstrate methods used by shoplifters at a "Shoplifter Clinic" at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15 at the American Legion Club.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Shoplifting, an estimated $70 billion a year crime, has become a major problem and is most serious during the Christmas season.

Lt. Krahn has presented his program throughout the state to employers and employees.

Waukegan County Dist. Atty. Richard Johnson will speak on the rights of employees in shoplifting situations, and a New London Police Department representative will discuss methods of apprehending shoplifters.

Advance registration for the clinic is being handled by the Chamber of Commerce office.

300 Attend Rites UW-GB Ground-Breaking

GREEN BAY — Chancellor Edward Weidner, University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and UW President Fred Harrington Friday were aboard the bulldozer as it made its first scoop into the Shorewood site ground.

About 300 persons including dignitaries representing all local, regional and statewide groups with particular interests in the new campus witnessed the groundbreaking at the proposed 3-story laboratory-classroom site.

The groundbreaking came almost exactly 20 years after the dedication of "Cardboard Tech" for the Green Bay Extension. The old extension was housed in a barracks.

The deans of the four university centers to merge with UW-GB, July 1, 1968, six area assemblymen and senators and area community representatives were present.

Championed University Former Assemblyman Glen Pommerening, Wauwatosa, who championed the Green Bay University in the State Building Commission, also attended.

Keynoting the occasion, master of ceremonies Weidner reminded the group that the date was a year and seven days after his official welcome to the community, and a year, six months and 10 days until the university is scheduled to open.

Displaying optimism the chancellor gestured, "I don't know if you can see the buildings out there, but I can."

He was referring to the laboratory-classroom, the college of environmental sciences center and an underground mall featuring space for library, instructional media and data processing facilities which will be the first physical evidence of the university. Drawings and models of the buildings were unveiled at months and 10 days until the university is scheduled to open.

Speakers discussed the birth and growth of the university, its ultimate effects on northeastern Wisconsin communities and its relation to the University of Wisconsin.

Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay, likened the start of the university to the birth of a human, accompanied by pain, but cause for joy.

"It can come about only from a real need that wells up," he said.

Brown County Board Chairman Myron Lott said of the site controversy that in his professional opinion as a farmer, the site has soil that is "one of the finest in which to plant a university."

Student Government Association President Scott Knapp reported that other occasions of symbolic importance would be when the first student takes an entrance examination, the first book in the library is opened and the first meeting of students at a faculty member's home takes place.

Green Bay Mayor Donald Tillman said the city accepts the challenge of the university and that it "will fill a void that we have had heretofore," having significant cultural and social effects upon the regional community.

Impact Expected

As chairman of the lay planning committee Rudy Small said the university would have an impact on the region, the state and the nation. He continued, "If only one or two or three of you people who would have otherwise been deprived of an education will have an opportunity, it will have been a worthwhile effort."

Looking to the fully-developed university, Harrington, said the only word that can be used on this campus and for the University of Wisconsin is "great," representing a tradition that has been built up by the people of the state.

Dr. James Nellen of the Board of Regents told the group he was confident that the new institution would "become great as an integral part of the University of Wisconsin, and become great in its own accord," with continued support.

Elmer Havens, of the Fox Valley Center and recently elected chairman of the 6-man faculty committee, looked for a high-quality faculty to distinguish the university.

"Only by the quality of the faculty is any university ever really known," he said.

With 20 to 24 months needed for engineering, purchasing and installing the necessary equipment, the phone company set the Brillion-Reedsville service date late in 1969, if the majority of the customers favor it.

$2,700 Savings

Brillion and Reedsville customers would experience an annual toll savings of about $2,700 because of extended service, telephone officials claim.

Consistently place at least one toll call to the other exchange each month, and that an average of two toll calls per customer per month are placed consistently to the other exchange.

Toll usage to Brillion by Reedsville customers reached a level of 48.3 per cent with an average of 1.5 calls per main station during last May. Standard criteria is expected to be met in 1969, the telephone company reports.

Those favoring extended service contend that the subscribers on the local exchange are not receiving adequate telephone service for the $10,000 collected in phone bills each month and that they have toll-free service in a limited area.

General Telephone Co. criteria for extended area service states that at least 50 per cent of the customers at either exchange

Through High Schools Calumet County Legion Plans Orators' Contest

STOCKBRIDGE — Calumet for completion of the membership drive by Veteran's Day. Council has decided to encourage more participation in the Legion-sponsored Oratorical Contest by reinstating a county competition.

Posts located in communities having high schools will explain the contest to school officials. A local preliminary will be held this spring, with the winner advancing to the district level.

The contest will be conducted according to rules provided by state and national oratorical officials. County Commander Clem Schumacher, Stockbridge, will be chairman.

The council voted to inform the Board of Regents at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, that it opposed routing on the campus by students Gilbert Stordock, Waupaca, will make known the council's position to the university board.

Urges Activity

Sixth district commander, L. D. Habermann, Brillion, urged more activity on the local level by Legion posts and asked

The UW Inquiry

The most noteworthy aspect of the state senate select committee's investigation into the provocative and illegal disturbances by a rebellious minority of students at the University of Madison campus on several occasions lately is the calm, deliberate and dignified manner in which it is conducted.

Typically in other years excitable liberals would have denounced such a proceeding, or even the motion for such a study, as an evil-minded "witch-hunt", in their favorite phrase.

Yet the other evening as the committee led by Lt. Gov. Jack Olson patiently continued the interrogation of the university administration officers about their policies and rules and plans to avoid or prevent further disruption of the normal and authorized operations of the school, one of the university's men was asked whether he felt he had been subjected to any indignities, or had been treated unfairly. The reply was in the negative, with an encouragingly positive emphasis.

On the same evening, Sen. Carl Thompson of Dane county, one of the leading Democrats of the legislature and once a nominee of his party for the governorship, volunteered his own conviction that the inquiry was being handled fairly and firmly, with an obvious desire to establish the facts of the unpleasant university episodes as objectively and as thoroughly as they can be put on the record. The obvious implication was that the committee will continue in a decorous and gentlemanly manner, even when some of the witnesses who are being commanded to appear by committee subpoena are interrogated.

The Headstart Program

Congressman William Steiger is protesting current anti-poverty legislation as proposed by the Committee of Education and Labor of which he is a minority party member.

The Wisconsin Congressman claims that the proposed legislation would "wreck the most successful program in the War on Poverty — the Headstart program for needy school children." This would come about, he says, because of a new requirement that half of the 20 per cent which must come from non-federal funds, be cash contributions. In the past, goods, services, supplies and space provided by local authorities at no cost have been counted as part of the 20 per cent.

There is no doubt the Headstart program has proved to be the most popular of all War on Poverty programs. At this stage it is a little hard to tell whether it is because of actual progress or because it is for young children whom no one wants to penalize for their parents' misfortunes. Even Shirley Temple Black, far to the conservative side, has come out for Headstart while she disapproves of other anti-poverty programs.

But the real success of Headstart must show up in the years ahead. Although the program has been in effect only a few years, there are signs that children who go to inadequate schools from the Headstart nurseries slip into the academic background and appear no better able to cope with education than others from deprived areas who have not had the Headstart advantages.

There also is a growing controversy over the methods to be used in Headstart programs. Some critics of the permissive schools patterned on kindergartens which are successful for children from middle

For their part, the university administrators immediately responsible for the effective operation of the institution entrusted to them have been candid and manifestly willing to be as helpful as they can. Some of their testimony may have been difficult and embarrassing, as when they conceded without prodding that it did not sufficiently prepare themselves for the possibility of an illegal student uprising, and that they have subsequently reviewed their own security machinery and rules as a result. Especially meaningful was the unequivocal declaration of University President Harrington that he will not tolerate further disruptions of university's functions, that freedom of speech and assembly represent two way streets, and that students who desire to be interviewed by prospective employers, and employers who desire to interview such possible recruits, have rights precisely equal to those who wish to demonstrate peacefully against particular industrial recruiters or prospective employees of such companies.

The inquiry evidently will continue for some time. Many questions remain unresolved. As one example, pressed again and again by Sen. Robert Warren of Green Bay, the people of Wisconsin will find it difficult to understand, when the university has been willing to issue notices of suspension to a dozen or more of the leaders of the unlawful student activities, why it is hesitant about disciplinary action against more than 150 junior faculty members who abandoned their classes in a strike of sympathy on the day of the violent demonstration against the Dow Chemical company interviewing delegation.

class homes argue that this is not what children from deprived homes need. Experiments in some areas with more disciplined, directed programs which even stress learning by rote have had notable success although their long range results cannot yet be determined. There have been other experiments whereby the mothers of the children are encouraged to attend some classes and learn how to help prepare their children for school.

Congressman Steiger is quite right when he points to Headstart as "one of the brightest hopes for breaking the cycle of poverty by eliminating many of the causes of later educational failure, school dropouts, and subsequent unemployment and reliance upon welfare."

But the hard fact today is that such programs must struggle hard for funds because we are spending so much on the war. President Johnson's budget asked only $335 million for Headstart, in contrast to the $475 million proposed in a Republican sponsored bill for both Headstart and follow-up programs in the elementary grades and another $100 million for bonuses to states which spend above their allotted amounts. But on the other hand, Republican leaders in Congress are insisting that there be cutbacks in domestic spending programs until the war is over. The American public may be excused if it grows a little cynical about the obvious political finagling that goes on.

We agree wholeheartedly with Congressman Steiger that Headstart could be one of the bright lights in the anti-poverty hodge-podge. But since government spending contributes so heavily to the ever-increasing inflationary spiral, there must be specific proposals for cutbacks in other areas if Headstart is to get more — until we get out of Vietnam.

Exploitation of the Poor

There were some small protest marches in Washington, D.C., some weeks ago against what was alleged to be wide disparities in food prices between low income and middle class areas. Not a great deal was proved in Washington. But investigations of a wider nature in St. Louis have come up with more facts.

It all started in St. Louis when Harris Nadier, a graduate student at Washington University, went shopping for a youth group. The group was located in a low income area so Nadier did his shopping there. "I was shocked," he said, "because I happened to know the prices where my wife shopped in University City."

Nadier interested the Human Development Corporation in conducting surveys of food prices in various parts of St. Louis. Their findings definitely showed that higher prices for poorer products were being charged in some low income areas but they have not as yet determined the reasons.

In October, four HDC research members visited 25 stores and bought some 30 articles of food in each. The average cost for the articles in poverty areas was $18.15 while they came to a dollar less in better areas. The most expensive area turned out to be an all-Negro community where the total cost for the items was $19.17. The same food chain charged only $16.76 in University City.

The items chosen to purchase were based on the buying habits of the poor. And while one or two dollars for that many items may not sound like a great deal, it certainly can add up and some of the differences were wide indeed. For instance, a pound of frying chicken was 45 cents in the Negro area and only 23 cents in University City, while five pounds of sugar cost 59 cents in the poor area and only 39 cents in a middle income area. Overall food prices in the low income areas averaged about 6 per cent more than in other areas.

Meanwhile reporters for the Post-Dispatch conducted a survey of their own and compared quality as well as prices. It was found that there was a difference. More fat in the hamburger, less meat on the chops, the wormy peppers and wilted lettuce appeared regularly in stores in poor areas but not elsewhere. And generally the price of the poorer quality food was more than for the better — in different parts of the city.

So far there has been little response from the supermarket chain authorities. They have insisted that there is no intention of pricing things higher and that differences may be the result of over or under supply in some areas. It also has been suggested that operating costs and greater risks in low income areas might have something to do with the differences.

Undoubtedly there are other reasons that reflect buying habits. In University City, the majority of consumers are college graduates who look for quality, question prices and consider that they have alternatives to buying some items. Consumers in low income areas probably are not as concerned with quality since they may assume that they get the bottom of the barrel anyway. They have not had the education and in some cases perhaps do not have the intelligence to keep track of prices and compare.

There may be some good reasons for differences in price. But there must be the suspicion that once again there is exploitation of those who are least able to afford it. It appears to be another chapter in the current American story of distrust of so many of our institutions and disillusion with the application of our ideals.

How About Observing Senior Citizens' Day?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A short time ago Gov. Knowles had an article in The Post-Crescent pertaining to youth and age and the slaughter on our highways, check the records. Youth is naturally more daring, some do not see danger, whereas age has had more experience and sense danger more readily. We learn each day we live, sometimes we learn to know ourselves. It takes time for youth to learn to know themselves. Youthful drivers have more car accidents, our highways are turning into speedways, race tracks — poor insurance risks. It is high time we older people look into this and see if we cannot find a solution to this grave issue.

Let the older people have driver's licenses. They are more careful drivers than some of our youth of today. Is it getting to the point where I can "buy me" a two buck driver license, then I can go out on the highway and kill and slaughter at any speed.

I live on Highway U.S. 10. Everyday the ambulance and police cars with sirens go by screaming. Then later the wreckers hauling in the wrecked cars that bear no resemblance to an automobile.

Where is this leading to? Our public highways are a real privilege, only we in America or the good old U.S.A. can be proud to enjoy, if only used sensibly. Remember Life Is Precious! You cannot replace life with money. Let us do something now to stop this slaughter even if we must put governors on the auto that it can travel only a given speed. Cars are a real necessity, if driven with greatest of care, if used recklessly it becomes a lethal monster.

Let us not discriminate against age. Let us look up to our Senior Citizens. They have worked hard to clear the land, till the soil, reap the crops, giving us foodstuff, built our factories and started the great American manufacturers and many more things making our life easy with the push of a button, giving youth more and more leisure, giving the American housewife an easier life, etc.

Let us have a Senior Citizens' Day. I am sure it would give them real pleasure to know we honor the older people too. Let's not discriminate against age, if they are well enough to enjoy their "golden years" in doing the things they enjoy doing. Let us look up to and not down on aged. Let's have a Senior Citizen Day and sing God Bless America and our Senior Citizens.

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

First the Shah of Iran put the crown on his own head, then he crowned the Queen. Those folks really go for this do-it-yourself stuff, don't they?

The talks between President Johnson and President Diaz Ordaz weren't entirely successful — Mexico flatly refuses to take Romney back.

Maybe Romney isn't eligible to be President because he was born south of the river, but you can bet he'll put on a good Mexican hat-in-the-ring dance.

Next year the government will go back to paying farmers not to raise grain. They didn't get paid this year — so we got a surplus of grain and Republicans.

Looking Backward

Wisconsin Men Buy Steamers

100 Years Ago
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Nov. 9, 1867.

At last, we learn from the Green Bay Advocate, a wise step has been taken in the purchase by Wisconsin men of the Steamers Rocket and Comet.

Messrs. Donsman & Elmore, Fort Howard Forwarders, and D. M. Kelly & Co., Fox River Steamboat owners, are the purchasers. Henceforth, these boats will not be losing trips on slight pretenses.

We hope one of these days to see a Ship Canal completed from Lake Winnebago to Green Bay and these boats, or better ones, unloading their cargoes from Buffalo at Appleton, Menasha, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

25 YEARS AGO
Monday, Nov. 2, 1942.

Cornelius Meyer, route 3, Appleton, was elected vice president of the Wisconsin Beekeepers Association, which met for the weekend in Appleton.

Kimberly High School won the Tri-County Conference football championship with a record of six straight wins and no losses. Members of the 1942 title team were Don Stuyvenberg, A. Vanden Boogaard, G. Frassetto, J. Vanden Heuvel, R. Kysers, F. Vander Wieken, J. Van Nuland, W. Van Sambeek, B. Olive, Ed Van Cuyk, V. Van Boogaard, D. Van Himbergen, J. Smits, G. Subert, M. Friebeel, C. Van Sambeek, E. Van Hammond, J. Frassetto, F. Van Cuyk, J. Wyderen, B. Willis and G. Hietpas.

Wilson Junior High School in Appleton won the junior high championship in its first year of competition. Members of the team were Glenn Thompson, Dan Sullivan, Jack Schultz, Jerry Risch, Don Horwitz, Nelson Folsom, Henry Brum, Stuart Locklin, Tom Lundstrom, Ken Weifenbach, Shorty Kimball, Ray Dryer, Chuck Miller, Don DeLong, Bob Polzin, Dutch Kimball, Phil

Harold V. Froehlich was named chairman and Jerome Grenzzen vice chairman of the Young Republicans' 8th District organization. Both men were from Appleton.

Vernon Duerrwaechter and Mrs. Donald Wasinger were co-chairmen of the dinner dance reunion of the Neenah High School class of 1944. Phil Abendsechein was chosen chairman of the next reunion in seven years to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the class.

The committee preparing material for the cornerstone of the new Appleton Memorial Hospital included William H. Zuehlke, E. E. Sager, Mrs. Karl Haugen, David Brooker and Chairman Lyman Clark.

Public's Appetite for Government Services Outgrows Will to Pay

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The duty of the Legislature in distributing the most generous flow of state treasury income in the history of the state is to decide how to use those dollars for the highest ultimate benefit to the state community.

Is the dollar spent for health more important than for agriculture, for natural resources conservation more valuable than for consumer protection, for law enforcement more essential than for the provision of transportation facilities?

Wyngaard

The list of demands for public services is endless. Almost without exception their appetites are strong and growing. To a considerable degree the most difficult task of the legislative leadership — since the rank and file member finds it difficult to make a reliable independent judgment in the face of the complexities involved — is to adjust the spending requests intelligently and responsibly, with the realization that all of them cannot be accommodated fully.

CAN'T SATISFY EVERYONE

If the wishes of all the officials of the state government, each of them utterly convinced in the isolation of his own work and his own ambitions and responsibilities, were to be granted, the state would now be spending and taxing at a rate at least 50 per cent higher than in the present budget, record high as it is.

Perhaps the best example of the money competition is provided by the schools.

Last week a couple hundred Milwaukee public school teachers played "hookey," as some of them cheerfully conceded, to come to Madison to put pressure on legislators for an additional state aid fund to alleviate what they regard as critical deficiencies in their program that the city administration cannot or won't accommodate through its own taxing powers. The hints were pretty broad that the consequences of legislative denial of their demands may be serious. A strike has been publicly suggested for sometime this winter.

Those men and women are obviously distressed. They cannot expect to view philosophically the obligations of the Legislature in a hundred other directions at a time when the state's taxing problem is nearing the painful severity of some of the local tax rates.

ALL ARE IMPORTANT

Yet most of them are products of the state higher education system. They have no doubt, witnessed with awe the enormous explosion of growth, cost, and quality in those several schools. What is more important: to authorize the expansion and the improvement of quality in the University of Wisconsin and its subsidiary institutions and the state university system and its satellites or the local school systems?

To answer that they are equally important is to echo the Legislature's own view. For that is what the Legislature has said in its successive and large increases in funding for both elements of the public school system.

Indeed, the problem in the higher education phase of the program will surely accelerate in severity over that of the local schools. The ratio of high school graduates accommodated by private schools of higher learning is declining. The latest report of Coordinating Committee for Higher Education shows that about eight out of 10 of higher education students in Wisconsin today are supported out of public funds.

12,000 MORE A YEAR

Total college enrollments are rising at a rate of more than 12,000 a year, or the equivalent of one sizeable new university each year. The number of graduate students, whose studies are far more costly, has doubled during four years, and doubtless will continue to grow. Nearly a quarter of the students now in the University of Wisconsin system are in graduate or professional schools.

The enlarged and improved blueprint for vocational education is only now being put into effect. It is perfectly clear that its purposes won't be achieved without generous infusions of additional state funds. The Legislature's decision on the distribution of tax dollars available is not easy. It won't be understood by confining discussion and debate to only one of its several facets.

Deposed Co-op Director Doubts Board's Power

Wallace Kleinhans Expects General Meeting Soon

FRANCIS CREEK (AP) — A deposed director of the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing Cooperative said Sunday he doubted that the board had the power to drop him.

Wallace Kleinhans, who was released Friday as a member and director of the strife-torn organization, said he expects a general meeting of the 8,400-member group to be held "within 30 days."

He said discussion at the meeting probably would center on his release from the seven-man board of directors and on the firing of the cooperative's general manager, Norval Dvorak.

Kleinhans has led the opposition to Dvorak's dismissal and was deposed Friday under a section of the cooperative's by-laws which covers members who "fail to promote the best interest of the cooperative," said board president Stanford Peterson.

Kleinhans said he thinks the board is powerless to vote a member out. He said, "This is up to the delegates."

Waupaca County Marriages Rise; Births, Deaths Drop

WAUPACA — County births 1966 to 543 this year and the number of certified and photo copies of discharges and other documents, now free of charge, was 1,287 which is below 1,321 made last year. Of the total 679 were requested by the local veterans office, Breier said.

During the past year the 4,701 real estate fee entries included 81 filed for five plats and six survey maps. The office filed 7,282 personal property instruments under the uniform commercial code; 17 chattel abstracts were prepared and 1,527 chattel searches or credit reports were given over the telephone.

For services rendered during the last year the office collected $17,206, $1,089 less than last year.

Other statistics include 33 perpetual care for cemeteries recorded; 123 Grand Army Home for Veteran Liens and releases filed, and 108 old age assistance liens and releases filed.

Bishop Cites Importance of Reformation

that one thing is characteristic of the hour of death. "Man has to pass that hour alone. Nobody else can step into his shoes," Bishop Lilje said.

Live Own Life
What he meant, the bishop added, was that no other hour can be handed over to somebody else either. You have to live your own life.

The other element which man can learn in his hour of death, if he didn't learn it before, is that he has a master; sometimes he is hard to recognize because he is a hidden God, the God who hides himself behind so many human traits and features, like the compassion and mercy mentioned before," the speaker said.

"But when man starts to despair, all he has to do is turn around, to look at his fellow man, and he will recognize the face of God." This is the essence of Christian faith," the bishop added.

"If our celebration is to have any meaning, it must lead us back to this knowledge that Martin Luther discovered: the knowledge that we are able to know something of joy, freedom and at the same time, responsibility, something of God's majesty and the courage to live a full life. That is the essence of the Reformation for all Christians," the Lutheran leader concluded.

Bear Creek Pupils Give Pageant at St. Mary's School

BEAR CREEK — Mothers and pre-school children attended a vocal music program presented by first and second grade pupils of St. Mary's Catholic school recently.

Titled "The Saints Come Marching In," the program celebrated the Holy Evening before All Saints Day. Children were in costume to represent their patron saints.

After a hymn sing, children took their mothers to classrooms and showed them displays of projects on which they were working.

The program was supervised by Sister Ignatius.

Meeting at the annual Governor's Awards Banquet of the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, more than 600 conservationists heard Sen. Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan, warn that some of his Senate colleagues may act Tuesday against conservation leaders who fought the Kellett Government Reorganization Bill.

Confirmation of the appointments to the Board of Natural Resources which grew out of the conservation-waged struggle to kill the Kellett Bill is expected Tuesday, according to Keppler, who was hailed by the group as the State Legislator of the year.

Opposed Kellett
Keppler was actively opposed to the sections of the Kellett proposal which pushed the merger of the State Conservation Commission and the Board of Resource Development.

He warned that some Senators may have a silent pact to refuse to confirm one or more of the leading members of the new board who fought its creation.

Among the guests listening to his comments were five of the seven members of the new board which is comprised of four members of the old conservation unit and three from resource development.

Present for the banquet were Russell Lynch, Wauwatosa, head of the new unit and a critic is a hidden God, the God who hides himself behind so many human traits and features, like the compassion and mercy mentioned before," the speaker said.

Absent were two members of the old resource unit who had favored the creation of the new board to which they have been appointed — John Potter, Wisconsin Rapids, and Prof. Gerald Rohlich, Madison.

The Wildlife Federation led the "Red Shirt" contingent that fought against the merger. "Red Shirt" buttons were much in evidence at the banquet.

Outstanding Organization
The Brown County Conservation Alliance, led by President Allan Ross and Past President John Volletz, received a mounesty and the courage to live a full life. That is the essence of the Reformation for all Christians," the Lutheran leader concluded.

Making the presentation was Richard Hemp, director of the Wildlife Federation who hailed the civic activities of the Brown County group.

The Alliance annually sponsors teacher attendance programs at the Trees for Tomorrow and the National Audubon Society camps, Hemp pointed out.

The group has furnished tools and equipment used in the Green Bay West High School summer conservation project and a long term lease for the Rockland 4-H Club conservation demonstration area. It also distributed free conservation films to all Brown County schools.

Also honored at the banquet was former Conservation Commissioner Paul J. Olson, Madison, as the outstanding conservationist of the year.

He was hailed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles for his long "battle for wise resource use and a better environment."

An Appleton man, his son, and a young companion will stand trial March 20 on game charges brought by conservation wardens.

Dwight Combs Sr., 54, 1136 E. Jardin Court, pleaded innocent of possessing untagged venison during closed season. His son, Gary, 19, and Gary Vanden Heuvel, 19, 2924 E. Wisconsin Ave., pleaded innocent of two counts each of possessing venison and pheasants during closed season.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered bonds of $100 for each man. Wardens, records from United Archery Lanes. Several bottles of liquor, believed taken from The Paradise Club, were recovered.

Eleven game and vending machines had been pried open-disabled car.

Found Sleeping in Parked Car
Friday Morning

Arrested after he and another youth were found sleeping in a car, Gerald L. Verhagen, 18, Kimberly, was arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 late Friday afternoon on four counts of burglary.

County authorities allege that Verhagen and a 17-year-old rural Appleton companion burglarized The Paradise Club, 4201 W. Wisconsin Ave., Oct. 21; United Archery Lanes, route 1, Appleton, on Oct. 23; 41 Bowl, 3915 W. College Ave., Nov. 2; and Appleton Auto Wrecking Co., on Bluemound Drive, Nov. 3.

Judge Gustave J. Keller named Mark Catlin to represent Verhagen at county expense. Verhagen is in jail under $5,000 bond. He will appear in court again Tuesday afternoon. His alleged companion is in juvenile detention in the county jail.

Recover Loot

Sheriff's investigators said they questioned Verhagen and the younger boy most of Friday. Police took the pair into custody about 8 a.m. Friday after investigating a report that two youths were sleeping in a car along Two Mile Road, west of Appleton. Police found radiators and a tin box containing $112.28 in the old car.

The radiators, guns, tires, sporting equipment and a large amount of tools were taken early Friday from Appleton Auto Wrecking Co.

Bows and Arrows

Investigators said they recovered much of the loot taken from all four business places, including more than 60 dozen bows, several bows, and a burglary at 41 Bowl, where investigators were told damage was estimated at $375. County Homemakers will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the courthouse for a safety work-Bowl. Police found a large shop, William Cantwell, a registered pharmacist, will conduct the session.

New Zoning To Be Adopted Early in '68

Two Public Hearings Held Before Council Takes Final Action

Appleton's new city zoning code will hopefully be adopted by the city council the second week in January, according to the plan commission's time

Hearings will be held to give residents an opportunity to submit objections or amendments to the code which has already been given extensive review by the commission and a group of real estate representatives.

I would say the new code will be easier to administer than any in the past, because it gives more flexibility," commented the City Planner Walter Rasmussen, during that new types of zoning districts have been added.

No Drastic Changes

A complete layout of the new map reflecting the land use proposed in the new code appeared in Saturday's Post-Crescent.

While not calling for any drastic zoning changes, the code does revise portions of residential blocks surrounding the central business district to straighten its boundaries.

Only portions of blocks are involved to give physical evidence of the business district, Rasmussen said.

At the first public hearing on the code at city hall Nov. 15, James Tewa, and Mrs. John application forms will be available for filing objections or amendments.

Dec. 10 Deadline
They will be filed with the city clerk, who in turn will refer them to the plan commission for further consideration or rejection.

It was announced that Dec. 10 is the anticipated deadline for submitting revisions.

On Dec. 20 the commission will make its final recommendation and then it's up to the council.

Discussion Planned On Remedial Reading At Weyauwega School

WEYAUWEGA — Mrs. Melva Kier will discuss the remedial reading program at a special session of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency, Wednesday.

I would say the new code will be easier to administer than any in the past, because it gives more flexibility," commented the City Planner Walter Rasmussen, during that new types of zoning districts have been added.

Deposed Co-op Director Doubts Board's Power

Wallace Kleinhans Expects General Meeting Soon

FRANCIS CREEK (AP) — A 1967, 546 births were recorded compared with 779 the previous year and 624 in 1965. Deaths dropped from 630 in 1966 to 554 this year while marriages in- creased to 307 compared with 286 last year.

Wallace Kleinhans, who was released Friday as a member and director of the strife-torn organization, said he expects a general meeting of the 8,400-member group to be held "with- in 30 days."

He said discussion at the meeting probably would center on his release from the seven- man board of directors and on the firing of the cooperative's general manager, Norval Dvorak.

Kleinhans has led the opposi- tion to Dvorak's dismissal and was deposed Friday under a section of the cooperative's by- laws which covers members who "fail to promote the best inter- est of the cooperative," said board president Stanford Peter- son.

Kleinhans said he thinks the board is powerless to vote a member out. He said, "This is up to the delegates."

Conservationists Honor Supporters

Give Warning at Awards Meeting
Leaders Board Posts in Jeopardy

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — Amid warning that conservation may suffer a defeat Tuesday at the hands of the State Senate, state conservationists met Saturday to pay tribute to their leading workers of the year.

that one thing is characteristic of the hour of death. Man has to pass that hour alone. Nobody else can step into his shoes," Bishop Lilje said.

Live Own Life
What he meant, the bishop added, was that no other hour can be handed over to somebody else either. You have to live your own life.

The other element which man can learn in his hour of death, if he didn't learn it before, is that he has a master; sometimes he is hard to recognize because he is a hidden God, the God who hides himself behind so many human traits and features, like the compassion and mercy mentioned before," the speaker said.

"But when man starts to despair, all he has to do is turn around, to look at his fellow man, and he will recognize the face of God." This is the essence of Christian faith," the bishop added.

"If our celebration is to have any meaning, it must lead us back to this knowledge that Martin Luther discovered: the knowledge that we are able to know something of joy, freedom and at the same time, responsibility, something of God's majesty and the courage to live a full life. That is the essence of the Reformation for all Christians," the Lutheran leader concluded.

Bear Creek Pupils Give Pageant at St. Mary's School

BEAR CREEK — Mothers and pre-school children attended a vocal music program presented by first and second grade pupils of St. Mary's Catholic school recently.

Titled "The Saints Come Marching In", the program celebrated the Holy Evening before All Saints Day. Children were in costume to represent their patron saints.

After a hymn sing, children took their mothers to classrooms and showed them displays of projects on which they were working.

The following children participated in the program: Marie Young, Jan Schertz, Maureen Wares, Susan Wares, Linda Puters, Rosena Shaddock, William Flanagan, Kevin Rebman, Arnold Gorka, Kevin Sosman, Marcy Brisco, Patricia Jarvis, Lou Ann Wright, Judy Ellenbecker, Jody Young, Devon Finger, Kevin Lorge, Bruce Vollmer, Steve Fletcher, Todd Miller, Peter Lorge, Michael Kalinsky, Timothy Sullivan, Michael Roberts, David Klegin, David Kruzicki, Clifford Flanagan, Jr., Mark Konrad, Roger Lorge, Patrick Lehrman, Patrick Rohan, William Lorge, James Flanagan, Edward Balthazor, and James Rohan.

Judge Gustave J. Keller named Mark Catlin to represent Verhagen at county expense. Verhagen is in jail under $6,000 bond. He will appear in court again Tuesday afternoon. His alleged companion is in juvenile detention in the county jail.

Recover Loot

Sheriff's investigators said they questioned Verhagen and the younger boy most of Friday. Police took the pair into custody about 8 a.m. Friday after investigating a report that two youths were sleeping in a car along Two Mile Road, west of Appleton. Police found radiators and a tin box containing $112.23 in the old car.

The radiators, guns, tires, sporting equipment and a large amount of tools were taken early Friday from Appleton Auto Wrecking Co.

Bows and Arrows

Investigators said they recovered much of the loot taken from all four business places, including more than 60 dozen during the Thursday morning arrows, several bows, and a burglary at 41 Bowl, where records from United Archery and loss was estimated at $375. Much of the recovered change is believed to have come from 41 Bowl. Police found a large shop. William Cantwell, a registered pharmacist, will conduct the session.

New Zoning To be Adopted Early in '68

Two Public Hearings Held Before Council Takes Final Action

Appleton's new citywide zoning code will hopefully be adopted by the city council before year-end, according to the plan commission's timetable.

Hearings will be held to give residents an opportunity to submit objections or amendments to the code which has already been given extensive review by the commission and a group of real estate representatives. "I would say the new code will be easier to administer than any we've had in the past because it gives more flexibility," commented City Planner Walter Rasmussen, citing that new types of zoning districts have been added.

No Drastic Changes

A complete layout of the new map reflecting the land uses proposed in the new code appeared in Saturday's Post-Crescent.

While not calling for any drastic zoning changes, the code does revise portions of residential blocks surrounding the central business district to straighten its boundaries.

"Only portions of blocks are involved to give physical evidence of the business district, curfew," Rasmussen said.

At the first public hearing on Mrs. Rasmussen's code at city hall Nov. 15, James Telle, and Mrs. John application forms will be available for filing objections or amendments.

Dec. 10 Deadline

They will be filed with the city clerk who in turn will refer them to the plan commission for further consideration or rejection.

It was announced that Dec. 10 is the anticipated deadline for submitting revisions.

On Dec. 20 the commission will make its final recommendation and then it's up to the council.

In mid-January, the city council will conduct a final public hearing before acting on the new code.

Discussion Planned On Remedial Reading At Weyauwega School

WEYAUWEGA — Mrs. Melva Kest will discuss the remedial reading program at a special session of the Weyauwega Cooperative Education Association, Wednesday, Nov. 8, at a meeting of the Weyauwega Parents Club. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Weyauwega school.

Parents will have an opportunity to see the mobile classroom unit where the reading program is conducted. Immediately after the program, Refreshments will be served by Mrs. William Kramer Jr., chairman; Mrs. Duane Roger, Mrs. Irvy Kiser, Mrs. Duane Johnson, Mrs. Jerry Owen, Mrs. Gordon Niemuth, Mrs. Paul Lorenz, Mrs. Alton Ponto, Mrs. William Bessler, Mrs. John Potratz, Mrs. Fred Brogaard, Mrs. L. P. Maasch, Mrs. Robert Abraham, Mrs. Wallace Weiss, Mrs. Kenneth Abraham, Mrs. James Orr, Mrs. Joyce Rodke, Mrs. Rasmussen, and Mrs. John Laude.

Shawano Homemakers

SHAWANO — The Shawano County Homemakers will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the courthouse for a safety workshop. William Cantwell, a registered pharmacist, will conduct the session.

Ugly Truths Kept Hidden For Communist Celebration

Leaders Center on Achievements Of 50 Years, Ignoring Methods

By HENRY BRADSHER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Celebrating 50 years of Communist rule, as the Soviet Union will be doing Tuesday, is complicated. A lot of things that happened during the half century are considered unfit for public mention.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, the key Soviet leader for 22 per cent of the Communist era, is an "unperson." He is not mentioned in the Soviet Communist Party's review of the last 50 years.

Joseph V. Stalin, the top man for 56 per cent of the time, is only slowly emerging from the oblivion to which Khrushchev assigned him as a person of "despotic character who practiced brutal violence."

Leon D. Trotsky, a chief organizer of the Bolshevik Revolution that started the 50 years, is given no credit for that or other important services to the young Communist state. But a distorted version of his views is still condemned in Stalinist terms.

Facts of War

Soviet history presents many other problems. The Red Army, for instance, is currently trying to suppress some blunt truths about World War II.

Perhaps because of the problems, the 50-year celebrations are focusing on economic progress and simplified history without saying much about the people or methods that achieved progress.

The present Kremlin leaders talk about themselves as the heirs of Vladimir I. Lenin, the founder of Soviet power. But there is a big gap for the 43 years since Lenin died and was enshrined in Red Square.

The problem in this gap is Stalin. Slowly, he is being rehabilitated, almost the way that many of his purge victims have been found in recent years to have been not so bad after all.

Emotional Matter

It is hard to tell how much the shift away from Khrushchev's condemnation of Stalin is an emotional matter with the cur-

Trotsky is still too big a bogey for the Soviet Communist Party to accept, and in the Soviet Union it is the party that controls the writing of history.

Today in History

Today is Monday, Nov. 6, the 310th day of 1966. Three are 55 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1860, Abraham Lincoln was elected president of the United States.

On this date: In 1847, the first American Missionary church was organized in China.

In 1860, the Polish pianist and statesman, Ignace Jan Paderewski, was born.

In 1903, the United States formally recognized the government of Panama.

In 1928, Herbert Hoover defeated Alfred E. Smith in a U.S. presidential election.

In 1956, President Dwight D. Eisenhower was re-elected in a landslide victory over Adlai E. Stevenson.

Ten years ago the U.N. General Assembly called for economic sanctions against South Africa because of its racial policies.

One year ago President John F. Kennedy selected Undersecretary of Commerce Alan S. Boyd to head the new Cabinet Department of Transportation.

Portugal Under Fire for Increased Highway Crashes

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese government is under fire for a rise in automobile accidents and the state of its highway network.

Newspapers and broadcast-ers, some local officials and many motorists themselves are demanding government action. With 400,000 automobiles, the country has four times as many cars as it had 10 years ago.

They operate on streets and selected Undersecretary of roads laid out in the middle of the year. A leading newspaper oband streets require widening and that 300 railroad crossings and 500 bridges should be repaired and modernized.

Of the 400,000 cars on the road, more than 100,000 are estimated to be in poor technical condition. One-third of the accidents are said to be caused by mechanical trouble.

One of the reasons for incompetent drivers is the custom of "buying" drivers' licenses, critics say. Many drivers simply pay traffic officials for their licenses, or go through the necessary driving tests.

Coup Ousts President

New Regime in Yemen Seeks Civil War End

SANA, Yemen (AP) — Yemen's new Republican regime indicates that it will seek reconciliation with the Royalists and an end to the 5-year-old civil war after its ouster of the president who seemed determined to keep fighting.

The new regime came to power Sunday in a bloodless coup while President Abdullah al-Sallal was out of the country. It said its goal is to "correct the situation" in Yemen.

Cairo's Middle East News Agency quoted the new acting president, Abdel Rahman Iriani, as saying contacts were under way with pro-Royalist tribes with the aim of bringing them into the Republican fold.

Influential Leader

Iriani is a conservative and is believed to have great influence with the warring tribes.

The new premier, Moshen el-Ainy, said all tribes have expressed backing for the new regime. He also said Yemen would follow a "good neighbor" policy with all sister states, including the neighboring monarchy of Saudi Arabia, which backed the Royalists in the civil war that began when Sallal led the overthrow of Yemen's 11-century-old monarchy in 1962.

Egypt sent 40,000 troops to Yemen to keep the Republicans in power, but its losses in the June war with Israel forced President Gamal Abdel Nasser to agree with King Faisal of Saudi Arabia to end their involvement in Yemen and try to restore peace there.

Smith vehicle. Vice said, and slammed into Wenzel's auto, which apparently was behind Smith in the west-bound lane.

County Coroner Leroy Hughes said this morning an inquest into the deaths probably would be held. He indicated, however, he would confer on the matter with Dist. Atty. Franklin Schneider.

Hughes said that although Smith listed 621 N. Superior St. as his Appleton address, Smith wrote a statement that said he also was from St. Paul, Minn. Smith's driver's license listed his address as Kenosha.

The passengers, both injured, in Smith's car were brother and sister Kieth and Sandra Winkler, both route 1. County and overturned after Brillion. Winkler was the owner of the car. The ages of Smith and the Winklers were unavailable.

Appleton Men Dies

William E. Fraser, 30, 2224 N. Superior St., Appleton, died at 2:20 a.m. today of injuries sustained in a one-car accident on U.S. 45 early Saturday morning. Fraser had been taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital with internal injuries after he was found pinned under his car at 2:06 a.m. Saturday near the U.S. 45-Winnebago County Trunk intersection, by Winnebago County Police.

A Fremont woman, Lois Otto, 23, was one of three persons to die in a Clark County crash Saturday. Miss Otto was in a car which slid into a bridge railing on State 29 near Owen and then crashed into another auto. Also dead in the crash were Mrs. Elmer Geiger, 58, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Avis Gehrke, 72, Menomonie.

Anton Dotzauer, 73, Milwaukee, his wife, Edna, 72, and Mrs. Katherine Fuchs, 70, West Allis, were killed in a two-car crash on State 100 in the Milwaukee suburb of Franklin Sunday. Mrs. Fuchs' husband, John, 70, was critically hurt.

Three Killed

David W. Bundy, 34, rural Beloit, his 31-year-old wife and their 5-year-old son, Michael, died early Sunday when their car struck a bridge railing west of Beloit on State 81.

The Rev. Richard D. Murray, 32, Eau Claire, assistant pastor of St. Olaf's Roman Catholic Church, was killed Sunday night when his car went out of control on State 29 near Owen — about a mile from the scene of the Saturday crash.

Derek Miller, 7, Milwaukee, died Sunday of injuries suffered Saturday night in a two-car crash at a Milwaukee intersection.

Miss Linda Pederson, 16, rural Blanchardville, died early Sunday when the car in which she was riding swerved out of control near New Glarus in Green County and overturned after Brillion. Winkler was the owner of the car. The ages of Smith and the Winklers were unavailable.

Miss Jerri Egan, 16, Highland, died Saturday when the car she was in struck a bridge railing near Highland.

Terry Vining, 16, Neshkoro, was killed Saturday when the car he was in hit a utility pole near Princeton.

Howard Metoxen, 70, rural Seymour, was struck and killed by a car Saturday while he was walking along State 55 in Freedom.

A two-car crash Saturday claimed the life of Joseph Robertson, 33, Milwaukee. The accident occurred on U.S. 41 in Franklin.

Carl Waupoose, 19, Keshena, was killed in a Menominee County crash Saturday, when the car he was in hit a tree beside State 47.

Small Planes Collide In Flight, Pilot Killed

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Two private planes collided in flight Sunday and one of the pilots, his craft's tail section cleaved off, died. The second pilot said he was making a landing approach at a small private airport north of Tampa when the victim's plane flew into his path.

The victim was James Richard Shovan, 46, of Tampa.

Mrs. Kennedy Dedicates Boulevard To Husband in Cambodian Port City

By GEORGE MCARTHUR Associated Press Writer

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy dedicated a broad boulevard to her late husband today with the wish that he could have been present.

With Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, at her side, the president's widow dedicated the boulevard in Cambodia's new port and made a brief political reply to the prince's welcome and praise of President Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy and her party flew to Sihanoukville on the southern coast, after three quiet days of sightseeing at the famed temple ruins at Angkor.

Prince Sihanouk at the dedication paid high tribute to President Kennedy and said his memory in Cambodia has not been impaired by the break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Cambodia.

Phnom Penh and Washington.

Although the prince warned at a news conference Saturday that no political meaning should be read into Mrs. Kennedy's "private" visit, he did say it represented a detente or softening in previous relations between the United States and Cambodia.

It was evident at the Sihanoukville ceremony that the prince was going a bit farther to improve feelings but was still far from changing his antipathy toward the present U.S. administration.

Sihanouk, in remarks at the boulevard dedication, said President Johnson had stopped plans for U.S. aggression against Cambodia and thanked him. He gave no details.

'Loved Kennedy'

Although Sihanouk terminated all military and economic aid from the United States before Kennedy was assassinated, the prince left little doubt he felt the diplomatic rupture between his government and Washington would not have occurred had Kennedy lived.

"I do not criticize President Johnson," he said at an informal news conference after the dedication. "but I stress that in particular we loved President Kennedy. But I am grateful to President Johnson for stopping your hawks in their plan to make aggression against Cambodia."

He praised Mrs. Kennedy's attendance at the dedication as "a great contribution to the moral and sentimental rapprochement, not between our two governments but between our two peoples."

Any further diplomatic moves and to restore relations between the United States and Cambodia, he said, must be made through "normal" channels, the prince said.

Sihanouk said he decided to name the two-mile street after the late president when Mrs. Kennedy wrote him last year saying she wished to make a private visit to Cambodia to see the ruins at Angkor.

"I wanted to present her a gift," the prince said. Asked by an American newsman why he didn't dedicate a street in the capital of Phnom Penh—which has streets named for Mao Tse-tung and Charles de Gaulle among others—the prince snapped: "I have no more streets in Phnom Penh. Would you have preferred a small street in Phnom Penh rather than a big one in Sihanoukville? Furthermore, this is my city. I am building it. I dedicate the street to a friend and not to a president of two nations that have to depend on the United States."

Small Minority Peasants Won Russia From Elite With Revolt

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — A month before the Russian revolution of 1917 Lenin, who had dreamed of just that, was thinking he might never see it happen in his lifetime.

This wasn't the only contradiction in what followed. Lenin's Bolsheviks were only a small minority, numbering perhaps 25,000 and with no plans for a takeover, at that time in March, 1917 when Czar Nicholas II was forced out and more moderate forces took over.

In the months that followed Lenin built up support, particularly among factory workers in Moscow and St. Petersburg, while the opposition remained split, disorganized, confused, and in some ways stupid.

The far better organized Bolsheviks, believing their chance was then or never, made their daring grab for power on Nov. 7, 1917, 50 years ago tomorrow. They have held that power since.

Western Influence

The direct causes of the upheaval were Russian disaster in World War I, a nightmare of economic hardship, and Western influence which for more than 50 years had been penetrating Russian thought with democratic ideas.

At that time Russians simply loved their homeland which had been harsh and brutal on all of them except the elite. Now they love it and are proud of it, with good reason in a limited sense.

Russia was about 100 years behind the West industrially in 1917; now it is second only to the United States. From a nation almost medieval in many ways in 1917 it has become one of the world's two super-powers.

From a nation whose czar was getting advice from a so-called mad monk, Rasputin, Russia has penetrated space. The reason for that is that the Soviets have striven for excellence in science and technology.

Educate Masses

But at the same time they have tried to wipe out illiteracy and educate the masses. Living conditions don't compare with the West if only because the Soviets have concentrated on industry and neglected consumer goods.

Nevertheless, politically the Soviet Union belongs back in another age. It is, despite all the things that may be said in its favor, a political despotism. The people have no sense of democracy or self-rule.

But, for that matter, throughout their history they never did. And under Stalin, who executed almost all his old Bolshevik contemporaries, the Soviet Union had one of the worst terror reigns in history.

By simply surviving it became a
